BRITAIN, FRANCE ON BRINK OF WAR; GERMANY CLAIMS GAINS

Planes, Troops Nearing Goals, Nazis Declare

Believe Seizure of Corridor, Danzig By Force Will Lessen Threats From Britain, France; Berlin Insists No 'State Of War' Existing.

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(INS)—The German military high command today announced that German troops had closed off the bottleneck of the Polish Corridor. A military communique said German armies from Pomerania and East Prussia "joined hands"" southwest of Graudenz.

(By International News Service)

BERLIN—Rapid advances toward "certain goals" in Poland have been made by the German army, authoritative military quarters asserted today as hostilities went into their second day and indications arose that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler may try to avert war by presenting Great Britain and France with a "fait accompli."

While the British and French ambassadors awaited a reply from the fuehrer to their governments' demands for suspension of military operations, responsible quarters at noon stressed the fact that diplomatic channels were still open and that a "state of war" does not exist.

This situation, it is considered in Berlin, might enable Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Premier Edouard Daladier to tacitly shelve their obligations to Poland when Hitler is able to advise them that his objectives have been obtained.

While military quarters announced capture of the Jablunka Pass connecting Slovakia and Poland and told of rapid advance on all fronts, the term "Blitzkrieg" of lightning war is hardly applicable so far.

The German high command placed the greatest value on speedy advances toward certain goals, cutting off the corridor bottleneck while keeping the Polish army busy at various points along a 1,000-kilometer (620-mile) front below the corridor.

Polish radio allegations that German airmen are using gas and incendiary bombs were strenuously denied. It was pointed out that Hitler actually answered and accepted President Roosevelt's appeal for humane warfare in his speech to the reichstag at a time that Roosevelt's message was

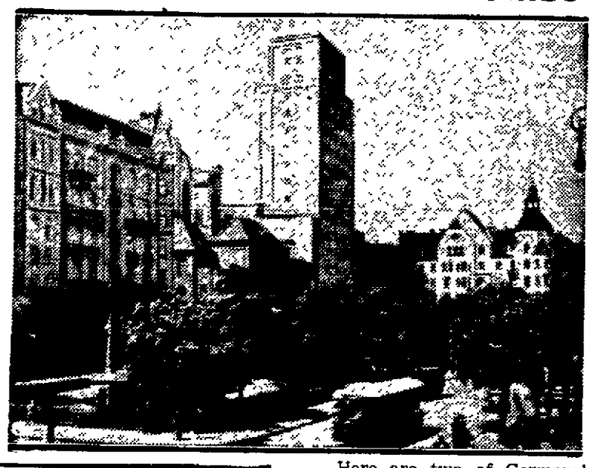
Warsaw And Gydnia Targets For German Guns And Bombs



Here are two of Germany's many targets in its war on Poland. Top left is the recently completed railroad bridge over the Vistula river in Warsaw. At top right is Napoleon square in the heart of Warsaw, Polish capital, which German planes sought, without marked success, to bomb yesterday and today. The lower picture is a general view of Gydnia, only port of Poland, now blockaded by the German fleet. Gydnia was also a target for bombing planes.

Poland's Allies Wait Replies to 'Last Warnings'

London, Paris Decide On Slight Delay To Give Hitler Chance To Comply With Demands To Halt Invasion, And Submit To Negotiations.

BULLETIN

PARIS—(INS)—Great Britain and France are sending a new ultimatum to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today, warning that they can wait only an "extremely limited" time for a reply to their demand for cessation of military operations in Poland. The note in reality means that Britain and France are now demanding an immediate answer.

(By Associated Press)

Armed and ready, Great Britain and France decided today upon at least a slight delay in throwing down the gauntlet to Germany.

Premier Daladier told the chamber of deputies if eleventh hour efforts were made to prevent a continuation of the German-Polish conflict, France would support them. He made it plain, however, that France would fight for Poland unless Germany halted "aggression."

Prime Minister Chamberlain deferred his vital statement on Britain's stand until later in the day. It was presumed he still awaited an answer from Germany to Britain's and France's "last warning" to halt the reich's armies.

Parliament was called for another emergency session tomorrow.

Adolf Hitler replied favorable to President Roosevelt's appeal not to bomb unfortified towns and cities. The German fuehrer and his advisers worked on an answer to the "final warnings" of France and Great Britain.

Warsaw reported Polish troops were resisting German invasion. President Ignace Moscicki declared Poland under a "state of war."

Britain Holds Up War Declaration.

LONDON — (Passed By British Censorship) — Great Britain, fully armed and ready, decided today on at least a slight delay in telling Germany and the world it was going to war to defend Poland.

When the house of commons met, Prime Minister Chamberlain deferred his vital statement until later in the day and commons was told by Sir John Simon,

'Halt Aggression or We'll Fight'—Daladier.

PARIS — Premier Daladier made plain to the chamber of deputies at today's historic session that France would fight to aid Poland unless Germany halted "aggression."

FALL OFF WAGON KILLS FARM BOY

Crawford Youth, 14, Run Over as Startled Horses Topple Him to Ground.

BUCYRUS—While his father and a companion looked on, helpless to save him, Raymond Seele, a Crawford county farm youth, was crushed to death at 4 p. m. Friday beneath the wheels of a farm wagon loaded with soy beans.

The boy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Seele, who live 10 miles northwest of Bucyrus, fell off the front of the wagon when the horses jerked the moving vehicle as he leaned over to get the lines for guiding the team.

The heavy wheels passed over the boy's head and body. Young Seele was killed on his father's farm while his mother and sister were in Bucyrus buying school supplies for him and the sister, Jean. The boy would have been a freshman this year in the Holmes-Liberty high school in northern Crawford county. He was a member of the Church of Christ at Bucyrus.

He is survived by his parents; his sister Jean, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell who live north of Bucyrus.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon, but other arrangements were incomplete today.

WARSAW: Poles Holding Own As Germans Resume Attacks

(By United Press)

WARSAW—German airplanes bombed cities all over Poland today but the government reported that the Polish army was holding its own against superior German forces on the frontier, where fighting was general.

Many civilians were reported killed and injured in the cities, where hurriedly-dug trenches were the only protection against air raiders. Warsaw had been bombed seven times in 24 hours but no serious damage or casualties were reported, the raiders apparently having had the city's outskirts for an objective.

The government said no major engagements involving large bodies of troops had yet been reported from the frontier, but claimed that Germany, in the first day of this undeclared war, had lost 16 airplanes, an armored train and several tanks. It was admitted that Poland had lost two airplanes and possibly some tanks.

At the Westerplatte fortress at the mouth of the Vistula river overlooking Danzig, a spokesman said a company of Poles was standing off an estimated division of Germans.

Nineteen cities were listed as having been bombed: Warsaw, Cracow, Torun, Kutno, Tunel, Krosno, Gdynia, Jaslo, Katowice, Tomaslow, Puck, Tczew, Brodnica,

DIVIDE HONORS FOR PREMIERE

Mansfield and New York to Be First to Show Bromfield's 'Rains Came' Friday.

Mansfield and New York City will divide honors for the world premiere of Louis Bromfield's "The Rains Come" next Friday night, according to an announcement made today at the Cleveland office of Warner Brothers.

The Mansfield premiere will be staged at the Ohio theater, where all seats will be reserved, and with a second print of the picture to be shown at the Madison in case the demand for seats is beyond the Ohio capacity.

Theater officials and managers and newspaper people from all over the state will converge on Mansfield for the gala event.

The date of the Mansfield showing was originally set for Sept. 16, but late this week officials of Twentieth Century-Fox, makers of the picture, decided to set forward the date of the New York premiere and to give Mansfield, home town of the author of the popular novel, a similar "break."

Nat Wolf, Warner Brothers zone manager, and Dick Wright, district manager, were in Mansfield yesterday conferring with their local managers and city of-

AMRINE BACK

Former Prison Farm Head Due to Take Jenkins' Post.

William F. Amrine, state superintendent of corrections, will take over his former duties as superintendent of the London prison farm next Tuesday, International News Service dispatches from Columbus said today.

The dispatches said it was learned from a reliable source that a shake-up of the institution's personnel has been contemplated by the Bricker administration since Supt. Thomas C. Jenkins, former head of the Ohio State reformatory, requested a leave of absence for six months because of illness.

Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood has not acted on Jenkins' request, and he has declined to discuss rumors of a proposed change at the farm. However, it was learned today he planned to make an "important announcement" next Tuesday about the institution.

The welfare chief had admitted he conducted an investigation of the farm, from which 14 convicts have escaped within the past month.

MOSCOW: Soviet Releases Her Berlin Envoy; Names Successor

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(AP)—Alexander Shkvartzeff, new Soviet ambassador to Germany, and seven members of a Soviet military mission landed at Tempelhof airdrome at 5:34 p. m. (11:34 a. m. EST) today.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—Soviet Russia has "relieved" her ambassador to Germany, A. F. Merekaloff, of his duties, it was disclosed today.

A. A. Shkvartzeff was appointed to succeed him.

Merekaloff, who handled much of the important negotiations for the recently-signed non-aggression pact between Russia and Germany, was relieved "in connection with his appointment to other work."

Soviet newspapers today lauded Russia's position as compared to that of western European states.

The government newspaper Izvestia said the country had a "completely independent" foreign policy, asserting that the Soviet government was carrying out "the principle of Lenin in the peaceful co-existence of two (political) systems."

It was learned that Russia's new ambassador to Berlin has been extremely close to the commissar for foreign affairs, Vyacheslaff Molotoff.

Shkvartzeff recently was in Moscow as a specialist in the Soviet Textile Scientific institute. At one time he was sent to Berlin as a special adviser.

It is understood Shkhartzeff was once Molotoff's personal secretary. He is 39.

Merekaloff, it was believed, would be given a special assignment at the foreign office here in relation to the Soviet's new foreign policy, since he has been in Berlin for a year and a half and is a specialist on Russian-German relations.

HITLER TOTING 'SUICIDE GUN'?

London Paper Says Chancellor's Ready to Die If Tide Turns.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Since his dramatic war address to the Reichstag, Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany has been carrying a gun on his person with which to end his life should the tide of battle turn against Germany, according to a story in the London Daily Express.

In his Reichstag address announcing hostilities against Poland, the fuehrer declared: "I will lead you to victory and if not to victory to my own death for I shall not live in defeat."

Double Week-End Holiday To Signal End of Vacation Season

Mansfield prepared today for a Labor day holiday week-end that will mark the conclusion of the summer vacations. Trips to lake resorts and beaches and attendance at the National Air Races in Cleveland were planned by hundreds.

The Labor day holiday Monday will be quietly observed so far as the city is concerned.

Labor organizations which in the past have sponsored a Labor day celebration have planned no special observance this year.

Industry and commerce will be at a standstill Monday as Mansfield joins the nation for the holiday.

Stores in the city will be closed, and offices, banks and city and county buildings, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. will observe the holiday. No mail deliveries except special delivery will be made by the post office which also will be closed.

Beginning Tuesday approximately 75 merchants who have been observing an early week day closing hour during the summer will return to their regular schedule of 5:30 p. m. closing.

V. L. Lodde, secretary of the Retail Merchants association said that all retail stores will now be open until 5:30 p. m. from Monday through Friday with a later closing hour on Saturdays.

NO PAPER MONDAY

In keeping with its usual custom, no edition of The News-Journal will be published Monday in observance of the Labor day holiday.

LONDON: Britons Grope In 'Blackout'; Paris Dark and Silent

(By United Press)

LONDON—London and southern England emerged at dawn today from a night of such darkness that the glow of a cigaret on a street or road was startling, and the flash of a match dazzled the eyes.

An emergency blackout, which the country thought would be the first of many, was an almost complete success.

Music and laughter could be heard from behind black curtained windows.

Automobile were either without lights or showed faint purple and blue tinted bulbs. They were guided by tiny cross slits in covered traffic lights, or by prescience. Buses ran without lights inside. There was one serious accident. A bus and a private car collided at Twickenham and one man was killed.

At such hotels at the Savoy here doormen used flashlights to guide arriving and departing guests.

Not a vestige of light showed in the vicinity of Buckingham pal-

WASHINGTON: Roosevelt Gets Talk Ready For Tomorrow

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt, pledged to do everything in his power to keep the United States out of war, watched the tragic story of another European war unfold today as he worked on a radio speech designed to reassure the American people.

Word that he would make such an address at 9 o'clock (EST) Sunday night was announced late yesterday after the cabinet had canvassed the whole "General war situation" and gone over last-minute measures intended to soften the shock of the conflict on this country.

Hikh officials here expressed the opinion that Great Britain and France would declare war on Germany today. They said that, if the declaration were forthcoming, this government would begin issuing over the week-end a series of proclamations designed to preserve United States neutrality.

Presidential aides cautioned against speculation that the chief executive might use his address over the three major broadcasting systems Sunday night to announce the calling of a special session of congress to consider neutrality act revision. They said there was no indication such a call would go out then.

Some other authorities, recalling the president's press conference statement yesterday that today might bring important developments abroad, thought he might announce such a call in the address—but only if he considered these "developments" warranted it."

Before Profit-Taking Hits Record Session.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Late profit taking stemmed another "war baby" boom in the stock market today after favorites had shot up 1 to more than 5 points.

Traders began to cash in when dispatches told of the British delaying action against Hitler pending the latter's answer to the ultimatum on the suspension of hostilities against Poland, and the statement of Premier Daladier to the French chamber that made to prevent a continuation of the German-Polish conflict France would support them.

As thoughts revived of a possible settlement of the controversy without a general European outbreak, stock prices receded substantially from the tops. Some leaders lost half or more of their initial advances and, at the close, the majority of utilities and mail orders were under water.

The ticker tape ran as much as 3 minutes late during the first 40 minutes of the proceedings as such issues as U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic Steel changed hands in blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares.

Transfers for the two hours were near the 2,000,000-share mark, largest turnover for a Saturday session since March, 1937.

Steels, coppers, aircrafts, sugars, chemicals and oils were the principal forward sprinters among shares.

Retaining sizable portions of their peak gains were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Anaconda, American Smelting, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Fajardo Sugar, South Porto Rico sugar, Du Pont, Dow Chemical, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Continental Oil, Texas Corp., and International Harvester.

ace, where King George and Queen Elizabeth slept.

A United Press correspondent who walked one block to eat nearly collided with four people on the way, and nearly passed the "Snack Bar," his destination.

On occasion the pedestrians came on a gang of workmen or volunteers piling up sand bags in front of buildings.

Trains had no head lights. They carried only small tail lights. Passenger coaches were unlighted. Locomotive fire boxes were screen. One United Press man who rode 9½ miles to his home saw one light on the way—in an uncurtained bedroom window.

The darkness gave young people a better chance to get on with their love-making. In buses and in the street, couples frankly kissed. Hundreds of them gathered outside one army barracks, where wives and sweethearts bade goodbye to their men, going, they thought, to war.

People thought that it had come. There was no excitement, but there was a new spirit of comradeship. People who usually remain silent and reserved talked to each other in buses, street cars, subways and trains.

FRENCH TROOPS MARCH

PARIS — (U.P.) — Hundreds of thousands of army recruits streamed through the city today and as many civilians fled to the countryside as the chamber of deputies prepared to meet to decide whether France goes to war.

Virtually all normal pursuits were halted awaiting the hour when Premier Edouard Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet inform the chamber of France's futile efforts to avert the German attack on Poland and declare that France is pledged to go to Poland's aid.

The civilian exodus clogged the roads and railways. The government had insisted that everyone without urgent business leave, and they left by special trains running every few minutes all night, by automobiles in such numbers that they interferred with military traffic, and afoot to the outlying districts, some taking household goods in wagons and carts.

The mobilized men were cheerful, and in spite of the tears of mothers, they managed to revive a little of the normal carefree Paris life as they awaited trains. They paraded in the boulevards, singing, haversacks on their backs and steel helmets slung over their shoulders. They crowded the restaurants as long as they were open.

Otherwise, the city was in deep gloom. Most movies were closed. Projectionists had been among the first called to the colors as specialists—they are usually engineers.

At sundown yesterday a balloon barrage went up around Paris. The balloons, attached to a network of cables, serve as airplane traps. The city was "blacked out" and dinners were eaten in the dark on cafe terraces. Dance halls were open but dimly lighted and the windows were screened.

still in transmission.

Hitler conferred with numerous key men during the day, including Deputy Nazi Leader Rudolph Hess and Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, as military leaders awaited the arrival of a Soviet military mission, expected in Berlin by plane late this afternoon.

The mission was delayed yesterday in order to permit inclusion of Soviet Russia's new ambassador to Berlin, just appointed. The party consists of a leading general and four other high officers.

Accorded an official escort, Polish Ambassador Josef Lipski left Berlin for Warsaw during the morning. The German embassy in Warsaw was placed in the hands of the Dutch.

The German army resumed its advance on all fronts in Poland today, according to an authoritative statement by military quarters in Berlin.

"The troops quickly captured the Jablunka pass connecting Slovakia and Poland," a statement asserted.

"Numerous enemy airplanes were destroyed by aerial attacks on scores of Polish aerodromes."

(Editor's Note: This was the first formal indication since late last night that German military operations in Poland have continued into their second day, despite last night's Anglo-French demand for immediate suspension. No other news of continued operations had previously been permitted to seep out from any official source.)

The progres has been made, these quarters said, "despite heavy resistance and blown up roads."

"Up to this morning," the statement said, "the forces reached more than their objectives."

German troops captured the Polish city of Teschen and advanced as far as Pless-Nikolai, the statement said. The forces occupied Wieroszow, east of Kempen, as well as Klobuck and Schildberg.

In the Polish corridor, German troops reached the most important railway line, known as the "coal line" between Bromberg and Gdynia near Culm. It is over this line that coal is transported northward to Gdynia.

ANSWERS ROOSEVELT

BERLIN—(U.P.)—Fuehrer Adolf Hitler has agreed unconditionally to President Roosevelt's proposal that the nations refrain from bombing undefended cities or anything but military objectives, it was announced today.

"The opinion expressed in President Roosevelt's message that it is the law of humanity to refrain under all conditions of military activity from bombing non-military objectives is fully in accordance with my own viewpoint and in accordance with what I have always represented.

"Therefore I agree unconditionally to the proposal that governments participating in current hostilities give a public declaration to this effect.

"For my part, I already announced publicly in my Reichstag speech on Friday that the German air force has received orders to restrict their action to military objectives.

"It is self-evident that the prerequisite for continuance of this order that the same rule be imposed on the air force of our opponent.

(Signed) "Adolf Hitler."

ficials on making it a red letter day in Mansfield. Lou Davidson, New York City, publicity man from the Twentieth Century-Fox office, arrived here this afternoon to help stage the event. He will remain until after the premiere.

While there was possibility today that some member of the cast of "The Rains Came" may fly from Hollywood to attend the opening, nothing definite had been promised the city, due to the fact that most of the players are in the midst of other pictures.

Plans were being made today for a civic dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Friday night which will precede the opening at approximately 8:30 p. m. Seat reservations are included with the invitations to the dinner. All seats at the Ohio will be reserved, with a section set aside for the dinner guests. Seven Speed Pilots Start Air Race Dash Across U. S.

BENDIX DERBY RACERS LEAVE COAST AT DAWN

Pre-Holiday Crowd of 40,000 Expected for Opening Day of Cleveland Show.

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND MUNICIPAL AIRPORT—While Europe's winged legions locked in combat, a matter of deciding American's champion cross-country flyer opened the 12th National Air races today, with seven fleet planes burning their way through the skies from Los Angeles to Cleveland in the Bendix Trophy race.

A pre-holiday crowd expected to total 40,000 persons, deserted its perusal of the war news to inspect Uncle Sam's latest fighting airplanes while awaiting the finish of the $27,500 transcontinental classic.

Grim realization of the conflict progressing overseas was brought home to the huge crowd by the appearance of the service ships — the 27th pursuit squadron, from Selfridge, Mich., and navy fighting wartime camouflage.

The Bendix contestants got away from Los Angeles as dawn broke this morning, with Jacqueline Cochran, of New York, striving to become the first woman to score a repeat triumph in the classic. "Jackie" took the event last year with an average cross-country speed of 249 miles an hour, nine miles below the record set in 1937 by the west coast sportsman pilot, Frank Fuller.

Fuller, second place winner last year, was expected to provide "Jackie's sternest competition today, with Paul Mantz, the late Amelia Earhart's technical adviser, the ranking dark horse.

The rest of the country's premier air show of the year was scheduled to be run off as usual, the European trouble notwithstanding. The city was thronged with pilots, stunt flyers, the service aces, industry executives and the thousands of just plain people who will make this airport—the largest in the world—a teeming center of activity for the next three days.

But there was an undercurrent of war talk—with the scores of industry representatives preparing to make a quick hop to Washington immediately following the Thompson trophy 300-mile closed course race Monday — America's "Kentucky Derby of the Air"— to confer with federal officials on speeding the nation's aerial rearmament drive.

The Braves move into the final week of the hectic Ohio State league season this week-end 5½ games behind the leading Tiffin and Findlay clubs. Mansfield plays at Fostoria Sunday and at Fremont Monday.

The Braves held their own in the tight title race last night when they split a twin bill at Tiffin, losing the first game 5 to 3, and winning the second 3 to 1.

Up and Down THE STREET

Congratulations were exchanged this week by the Dow Horners of Shelby who hold a monopoly on the golf championships in that city. Mrs. Horner made it a "sweep" for the Horner household when she captured the women's championship of the Shelby club, defeating Mrs. Bernice Bricker. Horner won the men's title last Sunday.

Miss Charlotte Brightbill, Mansfield's entry in the recent "Miss Ohio" contest at Marion, knows how it feels to be pursued by autograph seekers even if she did miss winning the state beauty honors. Miss Brightbill, one of four state contestants whose figures were almost identical with the "Miss America Silhouette," was besieged by admirers when she appeared at a Marion jewelry store before the contest. Her autograph was used on advertising match books distributed by the store.

Mansfield policemen rallied to the aid today of their former chief, H. E. McClure, who is in the General hospital awaiting an operation on his foot. When hospital attendants called for volunteers for a blood transfusion which they said might be necessary, five policemen responded to the call and were on hand for a blood test when the laboratory opened this morning. None had been called upon yet at noon.

Among the early arrivals here yesterday for the state Luther League convention were two 15-year-old Springfield delegates, Robert Collins and Paul Lauver, who made the 100-mile trip to Mansfield by bicycle. The youths left Springfield early Thursday morning, camped out that night, and arrived at noon yesterday before the convention headquarters at the parish house were open. The boys will leave for home tomorrow afternoon and expect to arrive in time for the opening of school Tuesday.

Mansfielders are keenly interested in the war crisis in Europe. You can tell that from the crowds that gather in front of The News-Journal window to read the latest bulletins from war zone. And as long as the European crisis continues The News-Journal will continue to post bulletins throughout the day as they are received over its three press wires.

BROTHERS HELD

Pair Accused of Looting Auto Wrecking Establishment.

Two Jefferson township brothers, one a father of three children, were held in county jail today under bonds of $2,000 awaiting jury action on a charge of breaking and entering.

They are Arthur Dysinger, 25, and William Dysinger, 20, both of R. D. 2, Bellville, who pleaded innocent in municipal court this morning and were bound over to the grand jury.

They were arrested at their homes yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Glenn P. Freeman who traced several batteries and radiators stolen at the Cates Auto Wrecking company, Park avenue east road, Thursday night to a Wooster junk dealer.

Freeman said he was told by the dealer that he had purchased the materials from one of the men.

WPA ROLLS AT NEW LOW HERE

Completion of Projects and Dismissals Reduces Total on Work Relief to 530.

Dismissal of workers and the completion of projects had reduced Richland county's WPA enrollment today to about 530, the lowest mark in more than a year, county WPA officials said.

More than half of the entire enrollment, or 275 men, are employed on the county-wide road and bridge project which has provided most of the work relief jobs for the past year.

There are 122 men on state highway projects in the county, 75 men and women on public records and sewing projects, and 60 on the Mansfield parks project.

One of the smaller projects employs four men at counting and making a record of the graves of war veterans in county cemeteries. It will be completed in about a month.

WPA officials said a few more men probably will be given work later this month when new projects are due to get under way.

About 100 men were laid off recently under the federal order for reduction of work relief rolls.

RITES AT CANTON

Mansfield Woman Who Was Drowned Will Be Buried Monday.

Funeral services for Mrs. Earl Sauder, 23, of Mansfield, who was drowned in Lake Stafford near Ravenna late Thursday, will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the E. F. Welch funeral parlors, Tuscarawas avenue, Canton. Burial will be in Canton cemetery.

Mrs. Sauder lost her life when she stepped into water over her head while wading in the lake with two girls from Ravenna. Her companions were rescued. Mrs. Sauder is survived by her husband and two children, the oldest three years.

SERVICE LEAGUE APPEALS FOR CLOTHING FOR NEEDY STUDENTS

The Mansfield Service League, organized last winter by a group of Mansfield women to aid individual cases of need, sent out an S. O. S. today for shoes and clothing for needy Mansfield school children.

The league, which recently established headquarters at 33½ South Mulberry street, above Campbell's Dairy and Pastry Shoppe, has been asked by the Friendly House and J. H. Eisaman, public school attendance officer, to find shoes and coats and other articles of clothing for needy children who are returning to school this month.

Mrs. Robert R. Black, a director of the league, said that shoes were the paramount need and that her organization will repair shoes and have clothing repaired and cleaned after it has been contributed. Children receiving clothing will be fitted.

At the present time the league rooms are open every Monday from 1:30 to 4 p. m. for the purpose of fitting clothing.

A quantity of clothing has been turned over to the league by the Richland County Red Cross. Persons having clothing to contribute can reach Mrs. Black at Canal 1798.

She said there also was a need for women to donate a day or half day of sewing at the league rooms.

FREEDOM ENDS

O. S. R. Fugitive Who Escaped 5 Years Ago, Returned.

An inmate of the Ohio State reformatory who escaped from the Sandusky honor camp five years ago was back at the institution today. He was returned last night from Fort Wayne, Ind., where he had been picked up by authorities for loitering.

The fugitive, Andrew Carr, 26, Lake county, escaped the honor camp on Aug. 28, 1934, after serving 11 months of a one to 20 year sentence for auto theft. He was admitted to the reformatory Sept. 23, 1933.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said Carr was identified as a fugitive when Indiana authorities forwarded his fingerprints to the FBI in Washington. The usual two years will be added to his sentence as penalty for his escape, Glattke said.

RURAL CLASSES FIRST TO OPEN FOR NEW TERM

Vacation Ends Wednesday for 6,300 in City; 600 Will Enter First Grades.

Nearly 12,000 boys and girls in Mansfield and Richland county will lay aside their vacation activities over the holiday weekend to get ready for school which will start on Tuesday for some of them and on Wednesday for the others.

The three-month summer vacation will end Tuesday for 4,700 rural pupils in the county and 900 boys and girls who attend St. Peter's parochial school in Mansfield.

Mansfield's 6,300 public school pupils will not go back to their studies until Wednesday.

In Mansfield, nearly 600 youngsters are ready to start to school for the first time, while the number of first graders in the county probably will be considerably below that figure.

Use Temporary Schools.

Because of the construction of the two new junior high school buildings in Mansfield, class routine will continued to be disrupted for junior high pupils until the buildings are ready, probably in December or shortly after Christmas.

The Warner building on North Main street and a garage building on Bowman street will serve as temporary classrooms until the new structures are complete. The temporary quarters were used last spring by several hundred pupils.

Registration of pupils has been under way for several days in the Mansfield and rural schools and when the new term starts it is expected that teachers will be able to begin their class schedules immediately.

There will be no changes this year in the principals of Mansfield schools and few changes in the county's rural schools.

CALLS PILOTS

Italy Adds 1,000 More to Air Force; Hitler Aid Seen.

ROME—(UP)—The air ministry announced today that it was adding 1,000 pilots to Italy's already huge air force.

The announcement was made while many observers found indications of a possibility that Italy might go to war in aid of her axis partner, Germany, if Great Britain and France went to war against her.

Observers pointed to Adolf Hitler's telegram to Premier Benito Mussolini which said, "I am persuaded I can do the task assigned me with Germany's forces," but concluded, "I thank you again for all you will do in future for the common causes of Fascism and national Socialism."

Schecter and two persons who were riding with him testified that the driver was operating his car at approximately 50 to 55 miles an hour without endangering anyone on the road. The court ruled that the prosecution failed to show that the driver had endangered the life or property of other drivers on the highway.

Not That It Matters

Thoughts About the Last War; And Will We Get In The One In Europe Now?

—By JANE WILLIAMS

I WORKED on a newspaper in 1916 and '17 and I can close my eyes and see the headlines in parade: PRESIDENT SEES NO NEED FOR AMERICA TO BECOME INVOLVED IN EUROPEAN WAR . . . GERMAN SHIP FIRES ON AMERICAN VESSEL NEAR BOSTON HARBOR . . . PRESIDENT ASKS CONGRESS TO ACCEPT HIS WAR MEASURE . . . PRESIDENT WILL TAKE HIS WAR MEASURE DIRECTLY TO PEOPLE IF CONGRESS REFUSES TO RATIFY IT . . . HOUSE FOLLOWS SENATE IN ADOPTING WAR MEASURE.

And so they marched on, each day's headlines bringing us nearer to participation in the copflict. And then we were in the war and men and women began to scan the casualty lists.

And I remember, too, that men said, along in 1916, "This isn't our affair, let Europe settle its own quarrels. I certainly wouldn't go to Europe to fight."

And then began the flow of propaganda: "Germans Crucify English Soldiers" . . . "Germans Cut Hands Off Belgian Children" . . . "Germans Execute English War Nurse" . . . and all the rest of the sickening mess that came, not out of the war, but out of the propaganda offices.

And there were bands too—stirring martial airs—and the sound of marching feet and men in uniforms.

And men forgot their determination not to fight. They began to flock to the recruiting offices.

And that, my friends, is exactly what will happen again if the war in Europe goes on. We don't want to fight . . .

But just wait until the bands start playing and men start marching.

EVEN today millions of Americans are asking themselves if we dare to stay out of the war, and if we MUST go into it, is it better to wait until the democracies are pushed to the wall, as they were the last time, or pool our tremendous resources with theirs while we are all fresh?

Men are wondering what WOULD happen if Germany and Russia should win the war—and it is not impossible—and what sort of peace treaty THEY would force on the conquered nations.

My guess is that it would make the Versailles treaty look like a love letter.

SOMETHING of the hopelessness of the German people themselves is sensed in the radio talk of an anonymous German the other morning, when he said: "You might end a war on ration cards — but you can't start it on them."

ONE of the things I like best about American men is their ability to bring a touch of levity to the most serious situation, no matter how concerned, or grave they may be underneath. And so they've expressed themselves (off the record) about the war.

Prominent attorney — "I can think of no issue so burning that it would make me bare my manly breast to bullets." . . . Newspaper reporter—"I suppose I'd have to fight if there was an invasion—but even then they'd have to be marching right down Lexington avenue." . . . World war veteran—"Some of you birds that yelled about paying us trench-dogs the bonus can have YOUR chance now." . . . Ohio State student—"I may have to fight, but somebody's going to have to fight to make me fight." . . . Tap-room wisecracker—"I betcha Mr. Hitler will be where the bullets are thickest—right back of the ammunition base."

A CERTAIN well-known after dinner speaker of Mansfield recently talked before a luncheon club of very conservative men, most of whom are either middle-aged or older. And in speaking of the possibility of war, he said something that probably jolted a good many of them.

"If we become involved in another war, God forbid, I think all of the countries should start conscription among the middle-aged and older men, leaving the young ones to look after affairs at home. Wars have always taken the best of our youth. But whatever contribution you and I have to make to progress we have already made. We don't amount to a whole lot. After a man's 40 there is little place for him in industry—he might as well go to war. The young men have their lives before them; whatever they contribute to posterity is still to be contributed. But if you and I were sent to war and were killed, it wouldn't make a damn bit of difference to the country."

The theory is all right, but it won't work out in practice. Soldiers must be young enough and resilient enough to be able to sleep in the mud and rain and snow without getting rheumatic knots; to be able to eat slum gullion without indigestion; to joke about body lice and trench rats; to march all day with blistered heels in shoes that don't fit—and above all else to be unsophisticated enough to believe that they are fighting for "ideals."

FAIR ENOUGH!

Theater Strike Might Do Some Good If Public Got Picture of the Situation

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—If the stage actors and presently those of the screen decide that they must strike next week to check the attempt of the stagehands' union to take them over and stick them up for an income tax, in addition to those which they already pay the state and federal governments, that will be a benign disaster, worth enduring for the good it will do.

This strike, if it becomes general and unless it be crowded back among the foreclosures by the war in Europe, will inform the public of the effrontery of the Stagehands union and reveal one of the most important reasons why the stage has almost ceased to be.

That reason is the Stagehands' union, and one result of its rapacity and bulldozing arrogance is unemployment of actors, which, in turn, has resulted in demands for government funds to revive the drama so that it may be led up an alley and clouted over the skull again by the stagehands.

The stagehand is what? He is the guy who does the mechanical and strong-back work, and although some of the hands might be classified as skilled labor, the truth is that this skill is exaggerated. Most of the work is such as might be learned and performed competently by anyone with normal intelligence after very brief training or observation.

The regulations which have been forced on the theater, to the detriment of the actors and of that institution known as the stage, are such that even though a show has no scenery at all and uses no curtain, the company must, nevertheless, pay high wages to members of the Stagehands' union. Otherwise the union will strike the show and compel the actors to walk out in sympathy but against their will. The musicians run a similar racket.

The actors, for all their vanity, are democratic people who chum with the crews while at work, but in the cultivation of this fellowship they are the people who have made the sacrifice.

The actors can't work or create work unless someone first digs up the money for the stagehands, when the fact of the case may be that the actors themselves and a couple of executive hands in the show could easily and competently perform the mechanical chores in their spare time.

The stagehands twice have cooperated with the actors in labor troubles with the producers who employ both crafts—first in the great Equity strike just after the war and a few years ago in Hollywood. That was pally of them, to be sure, but during these years the stagehands have fallen into the power of a dictatorial leader who recently has discovered that his union is entitled to jurisdiction over the actors as well.

Members of the various unions within the stagehands have tried to break this power, but individuals are afraid to become too obstreperous lest they lose their standing and their jobs. The actors, being old hands at the publicity game, will put up a fight, and, if public opinion has anything to do with the outcome, are reasonably sure not only to preserve their union, autonomy but also to bust the shell of a rotten egg and release the fumes.

DEFERS ACTION IN 'PEEPER' CASE

DECLAMATION FINALS TO TOP LUTHER DINNER

4 Youths Compete Tonight in State Contest; 300 Here for League Convention.

Finals in the state declamation contest and election of officers will highlight a dinner session of the 43rd annual Luther league convention of the Synod of Ohio at 6:30 p. m. today at First Lutheran church.

Nearly 300 young people from throughout the state are here for the two-day convention which closes tomorrow afternoon with a vesper service.

Three girls and one boy will compete in the declamation finals. They represent the four synod conferences and were chosen in district elimination contests last spring. Declamations the contestants will use were written by ministers of the synod.

Those competing are Dolores Lorentz, First Lutheran church, Mansfield, central conference; William Cox, First Lutheran church, Toledo, western conference; Dorothy Phillips, Christ Lutheran church, Cleveland, eastern conference, and Mary Jane Velzy, St. Mark's Lutheran church, Osborn, southern conference.

More than 300, including delegates and adults, attended the opening convention session last night in the church at which Dr. Otto Mees, president of Capitol university, Columbus, was the speaker. His topic was "Winning Losers In Preparation."

Christ's Leadership.

"When you accept the leadership of Christ you have to turn your back on other footprints," Dr. Mees said. "Sometimes it is not so easy to walk along these paths. You must step fastly and not listen to noises to the right or left. You are representatives of the strength of the church and are unafraid to walk under the banner of the church.

"Perhaps your purpose of being is to replenish your souls with that which gives strength. A Christian life means we must give up something to win. It is difficult sometimes for Christians to accept the issues, but it is a desirable aspiration to become a winning loser," Dr. Mees said.

"Give freely of your spirit, that is the life. You who believe in him who gave himself for you have the privilege to prove your worth."

Assisting in the service were Rev. W. E. Buchholtz, Roseville, liturgist, and Rev. John M. Warnes of Springfield who gave the prayer. A choir of Luther league members of Mansfield and vicinity, directed by J. Frederick Wolf, sang the anthems.

Entertainment during the banquet tonight will be furnished by Mansfield talent, and includes Jack Spicer, banjo; Eva Procker and Emily Griesbach, guitar and zither; a vocal duet by Javetta Bookmyer and June Statler, accompanied by Richard Sparks; readings by Esther Lantz; bell selections by Thelma Burton, a colored quartet and selections by the Accordionettes under the direction of Eugene Smort.

Hear National President.

Alvin Schaediger, president of the Luther League of America, addressed the delegates during the business session at 9 a. m. today. Reports of officers and secretaries, the executive committee and of the national convention also were given.

Rev. Carl Kessler of Wadsworth opened the business session, and Rev. Joseph Sittler, president of the Synod of Ohio, gave the meditation. A new organization in the Lutheran church, the Children of the Church, was presented to the delegates by Clara Bailey of Trinity Lutheran church of Canton.

Officers who presided at the morning session were Andrew Dropko of Lorain, president; Harold Lange of Akron, vice president; Ruth Flack of Springfield, secretary, and Faye Kughler of Stone Creek, treasurer.

Revised Security Act Will Benefit Persons Over 65

Recent changes in the Social Security Act provided that persons over 65 years of age may become fully insured under the old age insurance program, R. G. Mish, manager of the Mansfield field office of the Social Security board, said today.

Persons who were 65 years of age prior to January, 1937, and who were excluded from monthly payments may now participate in the program providing they earn at least $50 in each of the six calendar quarters after January, 1939, Mish said.

He explained that wages of persons over 65 at work in commerce and industry are now subject to the regular payroll deductions and taxes.

"These deductions will be collected back to Jan. 1 or back to the date, if it falls in 1939, when the individual attained the age of 65," Mish said.

It was pointed out that after having become fully insured, these workers will be entitled to monthly benefits when they retire from covered employment. Benefits become payable upon retirement, starting in January, 1940.

'STOP OR WE'LL FIGHT'--FRANCE

Daladier Says French Ready to Join Poland If Nazis Continue Invasion.

stake."

Without formally declaring war, Daladier bound France's fate to that of Poland by declaring:

"Is there a German-Polish war? No! There is a step in Hitlerian Germany's effort to dominate the world."

However, Daladier left a slight hope for peace.

"Even at this moment, if the Germans leave Poland, if they stop their aggression, France will not refuse efforts for negotiation."

Premier Daladier told the chamber that Adolf Hitler was responsible for the outbreak of warfare in Europe but that if 11th hour efforts were made to prevent a continuation of the conflict France would support them.

Daladier read to the deputies a message from President Lebrun declaring, "the future of civilization is at stake! Be united! Vive La France!"

The premier then delivered his own account of the crisis caused by the German invasion of Poland and the French and British mobilizations.

'Blame' Established.

"The responsibility has been established," Daladier said in solemn tones.

The red and gold chamber amphitheater was jammed with deputies some in army uniform.

"But if representations are tried again, we again are ready today to associate in them," the premier said.

All deputies up to 40 years of age already had been mobilized. They appeared in uniform.

As the chamber president Edouard Herriot, opened the session, after a short whispered conversation with Daladier at the Tribune, there was silence through the great chamber. It was packed to overflowing for the historic session with deputies, French notables and foreign diplomats.

As the session began, deputies heard reports that the farthest German advance into Poland was only three miles at Czarnkow, in the westernmost tip of Poland.

One report heard in the chamber lobbies was that German forces had suspended operations in Poland.

Seen 'Pressure' Move.

This report said Germany's armies had not withdrawn but were resting in their positions a few miles within Poland.

The purpose of any such tactics, some deputies close to the government said, would be to try to force Great Britain and France to talk on unfavorable terms.

The chamber met at 3 p. m. (9 a. m. EST) in extraordinary session which French leaders had predicted would decide to support Poland by going to war against Germany. The deputies first listened to an address by Edouard Herriot, president of the chamber.

The report that the Germans had halted in Poland spread shortly before the session opened.

Poland Denies Report.

The Polish embassy denied the report. French officials said they could not confirm it although they said they had the impression that the German numerical strength in Poland was not great and that German objectives were limited.

French leaders had said the vote for war would be unanimous.

The foreign ministry announced that Ambassador Robert Coulondre had been received by Foreign Minister Minister Von Ribbentrop.

The ambassador demanded immediate cessation of hostilities and withdrawal of German troops from Poland. Ribbentrop was said to have replied that Germany was not guilty of aggression, but promised to relay the ambassador's words to Chancellor Hitler.

A similar step was taken separately by British Ambassador Sir Nevile Henderson, both the French and the British envoys warning that they would be forced to ask for their passports unless they received favorable replies.

Sources close to the foreign ministry also said they had "the impression" that hostilities were stopped, at least temporarily this morning, but official confirmation was still lacking. (In Berlin the high command said the German advance was continuing and had exceeded its objectives.)

"Armies of Poland! Salute the heroic garrison of Westerplatte. Poland expects that they will hold the fort to the last."

CROP REPORTS TO GO OUT SOON

Payments to Farmers Will Be Based on Compliance With Federal Program.

The first reports from Richland county on farmers' compliance with the federal crop program this year will be sent to Columbus within two weeks for inspection before payments are made to farmers, G. L. Taylor, chairman of the county crop committee, said today.

Approximately 1,600 county farmers participated in the program this year, and the amount of their payments from the federal government will depend on the extent to which they met the requirements, Taylor said.

First of the checks, which are expected to total well over $100,000, will be received late this fall and others will reach eligible farmers during the winter.

Taylor said the reports of compliance will be based on information submitted by farmers who signed to participate in the 1939 soil conservation program.

Payments are made for taking acres out of cash crop production and the use of soil-building crops and fertilizers. Corn and wheat are the major cash crops in this section.

BRITISH WAIT NAZIS ANSWER

Delays War Declaration to Give Germany 'Last Chance' for Negotiation.

chancellor of the exchequer, that it would meet again at noon tomorrow.

There was no official explanation for the delay but it was presumed that Chamberlain still awaited an answer from Germany to his "last warning" to halt the reich armies and get them out of Poland.

(The National Broadcasting company announced at 9:30 a. m. (EST) that parliament adjourned at that hour and would reconvene at noon (Mansfield time).

When the house of lords met at 3 p. m. (8 p. m. EST) Mansfield Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, said he was not then in a position to make a statement but that he might be able to "a little later on." The house of lords adjourned until 5 p. m. (noon).

Expected War Order.

Before parliament was called to its second emergency session in two days, the majority of Britons expected a declaration of war would result.

However, it was stated on good authority that the British and French, desiring to act together, might delay such a declaration until after the meeting of the French chamber scheduled also for today.

King George VI called a special session of the privy council, presumably to set up a war cabinet, and his ministers were in almost continuous conference.

Britain had given Germany her "final warning" to call off her troops from Poland and Germany had not answered.

Thus, for the second time in 25 years, Britain turned to war to halt the march of Germany.

On Aug. 3, 1914, she met the presence of German troops in Belgium with a 24-hour ultimatum to respect that country's neutrality. At 11 p. m. on Aug. 4, 1914, she entered the World war.

Now the nation awaited parliament's momentous session and rushed its military preparedness.

Throughout the night, soldiers and civilians, sailors and aviators, men and women worked to put Britain's complicated military machinery and huge civil defense program at a peak of efficiency.

The cabinet was on a basis of virtual continuous meeting.

Britain was under compulsory blackout orders until further notice, with streets and windows dark from dusk to dawn every night to hide targets from hostile warplanes.

Before adjournment the house of commons considered the new conscription bill which will make all men between the ages of 18 and 41 liable to military service. Ernest Brown, minister of labor, in explaining the bill, said it would not apply to northern Ireland.

Men in the designated age brackets will be called up from time to time by proclamation, he said, but no "considerable group" of new conscripts would be summoned at the outset.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1939.

Drive carefully tomorrow and Monday—this is another of the deadly three-day holiday periods.

At the end of a long term in prison, a western malefactor thinks he should be allowed to stay awhile longer—until things become more settled outside.

Present estimate is that 32,000,000 people live on farms in the United States—probably including those who have other means of support.

America Salutes Its Workers

LABOR DAY observance next Monday will be somewhat overshadowed by concentration of public interest on European war developments and in contemplation of the part that the United States may again be required to play in restoration of peace.

The import of Labor day recognition, however, should not be lost sight of nor its significance minimized, for it is upon the manifold products of labor that this and other nations must depend both in war and peace.

It is unfortunate, but true, that human intelligence has not yet advanced to the point of amicably settling all differences arising between employers and employes. The result has been sporadic appearances of discontent and friction which sometimes take the form of strikes, with at least occasional resort to violence.

Contrasting the relatively happy conditions of labor in this country with those of any other nation in the world, progress of the past fifty years in betterment of the lot of workers and their dependents stands as one of the great achievements of democracy.

The principle of collective bargaining, in manual occupations, has now become almost universally accepted in this country, but processes of operation have been retarded by conflicting forces in the ranks of labor, with appearance of self-seeking leadership and disregard for general welfare which has tended to alienate some of the sympathetic public interest previously shown toward organized labor.

No greater hope can be expressed in behalf of further advances by American workers than that, within the coming year, they find a way to again unite their ranks, under sound and sincere leadership, so that they can once more become an important and dependable factor in national, community and individual advancement.

While the unsettled situation in Europe cannot fail to affect conditions in this country, it appears that the American stage is now set for industrial and business progress, which means a decrease in unemployment, if ways are found to assure confidence in undisturbed employe-employer relationships.

This is an accomplishment toward which the best thought of all workers should be directed as they pause to observe the day which has been set aside in recognition of the nobility of honest toil.

Modern warfare gives an entirely new version to the long-accepted principle, "women and children first."

Considering College Education

TIME approaches for return to college and the old debate resumes as to advantages and disadvantages of a college education.

Proponents of both sides are in position to offer convincing examples in support of their claims.

A college education has helped untold thousands toward creditable achievement. But a college education has also seemed to be a contributing factor in making worthless bums out of some others whose early boyhood appeared to offer promise.

Even the most respected of professions are sometimes stigmatized by a few unworthy members whose entry therein was made possible by a college education.

One thing is quite sure, however, this being that any boy or girl who really aspires to a higher education and is willing to work toward that end should have an opportunity to attend college.

Education attained under difficulties has frequently shown itself to be most beneficial—and money is seldom better invested than in helping some ambitious, studious and serious-minded boy or girl over the financial barriers to completion of a college course.

Through individual efforts, and by intelligent handling of several student loan funds, considerable is being done along this line in Mansfield, with further opportunities open in this field of helpful service.

With all the headaches caused by the European situation, the aspirin business should be humming.

More Homes Being Built

SUBSTANTIAL increase in the number of moderate-priced homes being built in urban and suburban Mansfield is an encouraging indication of the sound progress being made by this city.

There is probably no better basis on which to estimate the character of a city than by the evidence of thrift seen in the determination of a large number of people to own their own homes in the community of which they are a part.

Mansfield's most obvious housing need has been for well constructed homes in the lower and medium price brackets, and it would seem that this season's building program includes a number of these.

While there's still "room at the top," present conditions make it difficult to aim in that direction.

When Fate Intervenes

THERE is food for a sermon or philosophical debate in the story of Fathers Louis and Francis Keeney. The former has been teaching for the last dozen years at Rockhurst college in Kansas City. The latter has spent the same years teaching at Regis college in Denver. Years ago, when these twin brothers were ordained, they promised each other some day to try to get themselves assigned to the same school.

Recently, planning to give his brother a happy surprise, each man asked to be transferred to the other's college. Each secret application was granted and the two men moved, only to find that they were still as far apart as before.

This is not the first well-laid plan to go awry, but it seems significant of something or other.

Word comes that out in Peoria Heights, Ill., two road signs hang side by side, one reading "Roosevelt Road," and the other, "Danger, Travel at Own Risk."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—New York in a few weeks will be entering into her fairest season—not the season of autumn or of autumnal changes, but the make-believe season of the theater. . . . At this time of the year it is always a great pleasure to contemplate this phenomenon of Manhattan life, even though when it actually arrives it brings only the whirr of the turkeys that flutter past you—even though your evenings may be lost in a bewildering maze of dialogue, and your mornings squandered on hasty reviews.

The new show season, for some unexplained reason, is always more fun to me than all the rest of the year put together. It gives off an excitement, a sense of things about to happen that makes your step just a bit lighter. It makes you sleep better at nights, and it kindles a warmth in your eyes that isn't there when the season has grown old and the crispness has gone out of Broadway and left it—and you too—like an infirm dollar bill.

Well, if you see three or four shows that really sing, you have had a good year. Just three or four that really sing, and they make up for the 60 or 70 others that flit across your brain like evil fumes and are forgotten. No one ever remembers more than five of six shows a year anyway, not even professional reviewers, who see every opening, night after night, often for a decade or longer. When I say this I mean remember them well, perhaps well enough to tell, or quote from. They simply cease to exist except in the morgue of bad reviews.

THERE are certain theaters in New York I enjoy passing at any time, because they have been the scene of exciting winter evenings and their names are stenciled in your imagination like the laundry-mark on a well-loved shirt. The Music Box, for instance, and the Empire, and Belasco. There are others that are brighter and newer and much better theaters, but they mean no more than another bobber along catfish row. I wouldn't give you a dime for the Center theater, which is the most expensive, the most luxuriously appointed, and the largest legitimate theater in New York. Nothing intimate about it. That type of house is okay for musicals, but drama is lost to me in large theaters. It doesn't belong.

I SEE by the papers that all over New York casts are rehearsing. The old familiar names creep back into the drama notes. . . . A few openings have already been announced. . . . The drama critics are returning from the lecture tours. . . . That's one nice thing about being a drama critic for the New York dailies. . . . Every year they go lecturing to make lots of money. . . . Alexander Woollcott, who gave up drama criticism to write books and, eventually, to turn actor himself, has abandoned acting now for the lecture platform. . . . Yep, the best season of all is coming. . . . Not because the leaves are turning. . . . But, just because.

THE CENSUS TAKERS

Seek Ways to Evade Neutrality

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Many U. S. manufacturers, now pouring out airplanes for France and other articles which would certainly be classified as "implements of War" for both France and Britain, are worrying Washington to the breaking point as to what they must do—whether to keep on with their orders, or stop as war breaks out in Europe.

There is no public statement as to what they should do. But in one devious way or another the word reaches the manufacturers to put all their energies into turning out the airplanes and other supplies for which they have orders.

Whatever happens, the word it gotten to them, indirectly, there must be no letup in manufacturing which is of help to Britain and France. Morever, emphasis is placed in these indirect communications that war makes the need for their speeding up of production all the greater, the neutrality law to the contrary notwithstanding.

No one is sure what devices will be used to get around the embargo provisions. The only certainty is that the administration is determined to find a way around the embargo, which it failed to get repealed at the last session of congress.

As war comes, of course, President Roosevelt will call congress into extra session, and ask immediate repeal of the embargo provision. And present indications are that the isolationist bloc will switch its stand. But the administration does not want the manufacturers of airplanes and other war implements to stop their production while the inevitable debate proceeds in the senate. Time is too precious for that.

ONE loophole, which has already been sought, but which may not be kept open, is for the British and French governments not to declare war. From the same unofficial source which advised the Chamberlain government to invite all senators—and their wives—to the British embassy garden party (which resulted in that situation being promptly corrected) word has gone to Downing street that war should not be "declared" no matter how much fighting there may be.

In the event of hostilities, this advice ran, follow the example of the Japanese in China, and do not declare war, even if every ounce of the military and naval power of the British empire is being exerted. Then, the Chamberlain government was advised, the Roosevelt administration may decide to follow the same course it has followed with respect to Japan.

It was pointed out also that in the Far Eastern situation the administration did not recognize that a state of war existed because it believed that the application of an embargo would injure China more than Japan. As its sympathies were with China, it did not take the action it believed would hurt that country.

This sympathy with the Chinese, it was pointed out to the Chamberlain government, was very mild compared to the feeling the Roosevelt administration will have in a war between Britain and France, on the one side, and Hitler on the other.

It may be that this loophole will not be kept open, for the British are inclined to be forthright and stubborn about such things. But this also has been foreseen, and as a result administration lawyers are sitting up nights trying to devise ways and means of getting around the embargo.

The man who finds the best solution, which will give Britain and France everything they want in the way of military supplies from this country and yet not technically break the law, is sure of more than a pat on the head from the White House.

It is almost unthinkable that a way will not be found.

Listen, World!

Do You Make Sense?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

NO, I'M NOT kidding you—or starting to advertise a trick corn cure. I'm asking you a perfectly reasonable question . . . a question which may possibly save you endless misery. For millions of us lead wretched, futile existences for that very reason—WE DON'T MAKE SENSE.

We want to get somewhere in life. We want to be loved, respected, a power in our community, a success in our job. But we aren't. Try as we may—and we do try desperately—we never manage to make our mark. Nobody notices. Nobody gives us that Big Chance we need so much. Nobody even seems to know we exist. Why—why—WHY? For the same old reason—

WE DON'T MAKE SENSE.

This is a frightfully crowded and busy world. If a human being wants to be noticed, he must stand out from the crowd. If he wants to BE something, he must HAVE something. He need not be especially remarkable—but he must be a distinct entity. He must mean something . . . stand for something . . . He must have his own identifying notions, ideals, mannerisms. He must BE HIMSELF . . . not a synthetic copy or a composite picture of other people.

BUT HOW MANY OF US DARE TO BE OURSELVES?

HOW MANY OF US DARE TO THINK OR ACT DIFFERENTLY THAN THE MOB?

PRECIOUS FEW!

We vote in a certain way because our Dads voted that way before us. We go to a certain church because our folks belonged to that church. We wear a certain hat, buy a certain tie, go to a certain show—because it suits the wife. Read a certain book, learn a certain dance, use a certain patter — "because everyone's doing it."

As a consequence, we aren't ourselves at all. We're just a bunch of quotation marks! If anyone asked us what we were all about, we couldn't tell 'em, for we have no distinct purpose or plan . . . no definite meaning.

IN SHORT—WE DON'T MAKE SENSE!

Why don't we make an impression? That's why—we've nothing to make an impression with! Why don't people make a fuss over us . . . hire us . . . propose to us . . . elect us to offices? Because there's nothing to hire . . . propose to . . . elect! We're just a blue print of everyone else . . . they can buy us for a dime a dozen at every corner stand.

What can you do about it? Plenty! You can do exactly what you'd do if your pantry was empty . . . or your business going into the red. Start taking stock!

Find out what you're all about. Sit down with a piece of paper. Write down your main ideas, ideals, attitudes, habits. Every time you find that you've been thinking or acting as everyone else does, check that off the list. Then add the total. What have you left?

YOU'LL BE SURPRISED! BUT IT WILL BE GOOD FOR WHAT AILS YOU . . . FOR, IF YOU'VE THE SPUNK OF A SAND FLEA, YOU'LL GET BUSY AT ONCE TO MAKE SENSE.

Timely Editorial

Overdoing Golf.

There is a story appearing regularly enough in the papers—usually in the Monday papers—to be a printed form. It reports that So-and-So, a business executive in his late 40's or early 50's, dropped dead of a heart attack yesterday on a golf course. There was no evidence until he collapsed that anything was wrong.

A case against golf as such can not be substantiated by this. The game can be played in several ways. It can be a Sunday stroll with friends, or it can be ordinary labor, depending on the temperament of the player.

A man of prudence will let his doctor tell him what he can stand, and this despite the fact that doctors themselves now and then figure in these unexpected tragedies. The cure for tired nerves and organs and arteries is not a different kind of tension but a different approach to one's recreations. The delusion that one is as good physically as he ever was has cut hundreds down in what might have been their prime.—Detroit News.

Summary of Week's Happenings

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

HITLER'S long-threatened annexation of the Free City of Danzig, coupled with invasion of Poland by German troops and air raids over Polish cities marked the week-end climax of a tense week during which Europe veered from hope of peace to certainty of war.

Interchange of peace proposals between Hitler and the representatives of France and Great Britain failed to produce any basis for agreement. Hitler insisted on the return of Danzig and the Polish Corridor to the reich as a preliminary to negotiations. Poland was determined that this should not be done and France and Britain reiterated intention to fulfill pledges to give military support to Poland in the event of attack.

Meanwhile France and Great Britain moved speedily toward general mobilization, showed every indication of intending to give immediate aid to Poland and it was announced from Rome that Italy would refrain from any military operations.

In Washington President Roosevelt expressed belief that the United States can stay out of the European conflict and said the administration will make every effort to do so. During the week the president appealed for pledges against bombardment of civilian populations in the event of war.

No steps have yet been taken for calling congress into special session for action on neutrality, nor does an undeclared war require application of restrictions imposed by the present act.

In a nation-wide broadcast announced for 9 o'clock tomorrow night President Roosevelt will talk about the international situation and the attitude of the United States toward it.

Peace Proponents.

Many Italians expected Benito Mussolini to intercede at the last minute, save peace, and win something for himself. His king, Vittorio Emanuele, to whom President Roosevelt addressed a peace plea last week, cabled back this week that Rome was striving "to bring about a peace with justice." A similar plea by Canada's Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King was answered similarly by Il Duce.

Berlin dispatches hinted that Der Fuehrer might let Signor Mussolini mediate in his row with the Poles. Warsaw, meanwhile, in its reply to Mr. Roosevelt's peace appeal, had suggested conciliation by "a third party as disinterested and impartial" as Mr. Roosevelt.

Belgium's King Leopold and the Netherlands' Queen Wilhelmina then offered their "good offices" and were reported Wednesday to have been thanked by London, Paris, Warsaw and Berlin. The Poles cited their previous message to Mr. Roosevelt; the Nazis were said to have pointed to the Hitler-Chamberlain correspondence.

Pope Pius also was reported to be active in behalf of peace.

Abroad

As War Neared.

Early days of this week gave Europeans a close-up view of war's grim face. Many frontiers were closed. But "bulletins" clicking over the wires told of step after step toward war:

Germany.

There were runs on food stores. Polish "atrocities" were stressed. Martial law was proclaimed in Slovakia.

Clothing merchants required purchasers to show their permits.

Italy.

Gas masks were distributed in Vatican City.

Residents of big cities were advised to leave.

Private auto traffic was ordered halted to save gas.

Restaurants were forbidden to serve more than one fish or meat course.

Britain.

Civil liberties and business activities were restricted.

Police broke up a Fascist demonstration in Downing Street.

School kids toted gas masks instead of books, 48 hours' rations instead of lunches.

The admiralty took charge of private ships and advised skippers to avoid the Mediterranean and Baltic.

Evacuation of 3,000,000 women, children, invalids and old folks from London and other centers was ordered.

France.

Cafes revived war songs.

Railroads were requisitioned for military purposes.

Nearly 50,000 children were evacuated from Paris.

Stained glass windows were removed from cathedrals.

News was censored—leaving big blank gaps in newspapers.

Poland.

Mobilization posters appeared.

Warsaw papers denied Germans were being abused in Poland and blamed Germans for bombings, etc.

Poles charged German forces were on all sides, with observation balloons up, and guns trained on Gdynia, a Polish port.

Russia's Explanation.

Soviet War Commissar Klementi E. Voroshiloff explained last week-end that Warsaw's objections to letting red troops cross Poland accounted in part for the failure of British-French negotiations with Moscow and conclusion of the Russo-German peace pact.

The Little Lands.

German neutrality assurances recently were given to Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Luxembourg, Denmark and Lithuania. Nevertheless, the little lands shared their big European brothers' anxiety this week.

QUOTES

Pope Pius XII: "Nothing is lost through peace—all may be lost through war."

Paul V. McNutt, Federal Security Administrator: "If I were going down a dark alley, I would want both hands free. The whole world is a dark alley now, and if the U. S. is faced with sudden international trouble its hands should not be shackled with neutrality legislation."

which the U. S. army showed its newest equipment—including "the world's best anti-tank weapon." Said G. A. R. Commander Robert M. Rownd, 93, of Ripley, N. Y.: "We'll be involved in the present trouble if things keep as they are."

America's 'America.'

Next spring the biggest, costliest ocean liner ever built in America, a 34,000-ton, $17,000,000 ship named America, with accommodations for 1,219 passengers and a crew of 639, will begin plying the Atlantic. Started a year ago at Newport News, Va., the big boat was ready for launching this week by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Economic Upbeats.

The national income in the first seven months of this year was 3% higher than in the same period last year, says the U. S. Commerce Department. Workers got 5% more, but investors got less.

Public employment offices, says the Social Security Board, placed 38% more persons in private jobs in July, 1939, than in July, 1938.

People

King and Subjects.

King Peter of Yugoslavia, a tall, athletic lad, will be 16 years old next Wednesday and in two years he is slated to take charge of the "kingdom of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes." The king and his second cousin, Prince Paul, who represents him as regent now, are Serbs.

Croats' objections to being ruled by Serbs have jeopardized Yugoslavia's unity, but during the crisis last week-end the Croats' leader, Dr. Vladimir Macek, accepted the post of vice premier and minister without portfolio in a new coalition cabinet.

To Far Front, at 72.

Wiry, little Maxime Weygand was known during the World war as "Marshal Foch's shadow." After the war, he served in Syria and as France's army chief, then retired.

Now 72, Gen. Weygand flew from Paris to Beirut this week, and was expected to command allied forces in the eastern Mediterranean.

Crime

Public Foes Nabbed.

Public Enemy No. 4 on the G-men's August list, Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, industrial racketeer, surrendered to FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover in New York last week-end; and U. S. and New York authorities vied to prosecute him. Lepke was arraigned first on 10 federal indictments on which, if convicted, he could be sent to prison for 164 years. New York's District Attorney Dewey, meanwhile, declared he had enough charges against Lepke to send him up for 500 years.

Public Enemy No. 5, Joseph Paul Cretzer, sought for two years as a suspect in seven west coast bank robberies, was captured without a struggle this week in a Chicago apartment.

Lover's Lane Death.

Wanda Dworecki, 18, was found dead near a Camden, N. J. lovers' lane on Aug. 8. This week her father, the Rev. Walter Dworecki—who had founded his own church in Camden and been nicknamed "Iron Mike" because of his vigorous preaching—was accused by the county prosecutor of having hired his daughter's suitor to kill her for insurance.

Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth.—Matt 5:5.

At Home

Futile Pleas.

President Roosevelt begged Richsfuehrer Hitler last April to lay down his arms and let world problems be solved peaceably. In an address to the Reichstag then, Herr Hitler vowed: "No German shall ever enter a conference defenseless."

Relations between America and Germany already were bad. They have not improved.

Mr. Roosevelt, nevertheless, sent peace pleas early in this summer's crisis to Italy's king, Poland's president and Germany's dictator, and recommended settlement of the Polish-German dispute by direct negotiations, arbitration or conciliation.

In Europe, several thousand Americans, including many celebrities, were scrambling to get home.

WEDDINGS LEAD IN PARADE OF EVENTS

Sports at Westbrook, Steak Frys, Garden Shows and College Farewell Dance Are Also Scheduled.

By MARIANNE SPRINGER

WE'RE all well aware that this last holiday week-end of the summer is a busy one for everybody with little time out for reading newspapers. And when you can find time for a glance at the daily, it's probably hard to get passed the first page because of all the news of war that appears there. But just so you won't miss out on anything of social importance, perhaps we'd better look over the highlights in the calendar for the coming week.

Wedding bells will be ringing for three Mansfield couples tomorrow afternoon. Miss Bessie Faye Crosby will become the bride of Emil R. Boliantz in a garden ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs H. M. Robinson in Fredericktown at 2:30 o'clock. At the same hour in Loudonville, Miss Helen Baker and Allen Balliett will be married before the altar of the First Lutheran church. The only one of tomorrow's weddings to be solemnized in Mansfield is that of Miss Florence Hardy and Henry Schmahl, who will exchange vows at the Grace Gospel tabernacle.

Holiday At Westbrook.

Monday will be "all sports day" at Westbrook Country club, so if you're a member of the club (and you won't be out of the city for the week-end) you can go out to Westbrook and join in the fun. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Reynolds are in charge of the mixed two ball foursomes, while Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Ott will serve as hosts for the dinner, when the annual awarding of prizes in men's and women's golf, tennis and swimming will take place.

And then as further proof that Dan Cupid is a pretty busy little fellow these days is the wedding of Miss Virginia Leight and George Call at the Grace Episcopal church on Tuesday. Several clubs are planning outdoor affairs for that first day after Labor Day. Mrs. Roy Curry will be hostess to the Audubon club members for a wiener roast at her home on Russell road, and members of the Tabitha class of the First Lutheran church are going to have a steak fry at Spiker's grove.

Other Tuesday Plans.

Mrs. Charles White and Mrs. Charles Wilkinson are planning a party for their sisters in Alpha Pi Sigma sorority at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Tuesday evening

Mrs. Wilma Shay has been directing some members of the Delano auxiliary in a play, "Don't Tell a Soul." She and the group will present it Tuesday evening for other members of the organization. And even though most of the members of the Women's association at Westbrook country club are playing in the two-ball foursomes Monday, they will meet again on Tuesday for the opening session of the annual handicap tournament.

The Possum Run Women's association will play golf as usual on Wednesday morning. Harold Duda's orchestra will furnish the music for dancing at the college dance which members of St. Peter's Alumni association are giving for their departing friends at the American Legion home on Thursday evening. A flower show at the home of Mrs. Samuel Orr on Townview circle will be an event of next Friday afternoon for members of the Town and Country Garden club. Mrs. W. L. Olds will assist the hostess.

Other Weddings.

Finally, on next Saturday, there will be two more weddings. Miss Anne Contracieri and Paul B. Dune will be united in marriage at 10 o'clock in the morning at St. Peter's Catholic church. And Miss Ruth Bohland will go to Akron, where she will be wedded to Henry Schlayer in a quiet ceremony at the First Presbyterian church.

HAVE CORN ROAST.

Mrs. Edwin Seybolt entertained 28 members and seven guests of the A. L. S. club with a corn roast at her home on the Ashland road Thursday evening.

Mrs. Johnson Has Meeting of Church Group

Mrs. D. R. Jones, Mrs. George Sleeman, Miss Valencia Truxall and Miss Bette Horner were guests at a meeting of the Lucretia Hedges Missionary society of the First Methodist church yesterday evening at the home of Mrs. Blaine Johnson on the Ashland road.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. James Rizer, new president of the group. Mrs. Kenneth Stonebrook led the devotions. Mrs. V. D. Coe and Mrs. Leo Hartmann gave special reports, and Miss Ethel Hughes presented news of the coming year in missionary work.

Mrs. Edwin Corwin, Mrs. Kathryn DeYarmon and Mrs. Coe then served refreshments to the group. On Oct. 6 Mrs. Hartmann will be hostess for the "dues paying party" at her home on Stewart avenue.

Miss Oswalt Gives Farewell For Friend

Miss Eva Tietz was honored with a farewell party yesterday evening at the home of Miss Margaret Oswalt on Sturges avenue. The honoree is leaving on Monday for Akron where she will enter nurses' training at St Thomas hospital.

The guests played bridge last evening and prizes were won by the Misses Mary Arnett and Mary Lou Marks. Miss Tietz received many gifts in honor of the occasion. When the hostess served refreshments the long table was set with crystal and blue and gold appointments.

As They Looked In 1914 -- At Reunion Today

MRS. WALTER WILLIS (Hazelle King) — Dr. Marion Douglass — MRS. NELLIE GATES (Nellie Long) — WILLIAM MARQUIS

RICHARD FENSCH — Mrs. Sherman Giessner (Marguerite Eichelberger) — LOUIS BROMFIELD — HENRIETTA FRANK

Here are a few of the members of the Mansfield high school class of 1914, holding their 25th reunion at the Malabar farm home of Louis Bromfield, near Lucas, this afternoon. The pictures were taken from the school annual of 1914.

RECALL MEMORIES OF SCHOOL DAYS TODAY

Mansfield High Class of 1914 Has Reunion at Farm of Louis Bromfield; Members Come From Afar to Talk Over 'Good Old Times.'

THIS is a red letter day on the calendar of every boy and girl who was a member of the Mansfield high school class of 1914, for today, 25 years after their public school days were ended, they are meeting for a reunion at Malabar farm, the home of the Louis Bromfields, near Lucas.

The date originally was set in June, but when the host found it necessary to go to Hollywood on business, every member of the committees agreed that the reunion should be postponed until his return.

And so they came today from New York City and Chicago, from Texas and West Virginia and Kansas; from Washington, D. C., and a half dozen other cities for the reunion.

This isn't an ordinary meeting of grown men and women who gather for a few hours to find out how far apart they've grown in a quarter of a century, but a real home coming for the boys and girls who will call each other by almost-forgotten school nicknames—"Red," "Bill," "Tillie," Deeck," "Patsy," "Pickles," and "Stoney."

There was a picnic dinner at noon, and tonight there will be the class reunion dinner—a chicken dinner—and after that a barn dance with old time fiddlers.

Dr. Vaughn W. Dean, Indianapolis, president of the 1914 class, will preside at the dinner tonight, and Richard Fensch, Mansfield, will act as toastmaster. Bromfield will be among the class members who will talk briefly, and there will be another "class prophecy," just as there was 25 years ago. The prophecy will be read tonight by Al Schwein. It was written by Schwein, Mrs. Walter Willis and Mrs. Stuart Cramer.

A number of the members of the class have won national distinction since their graduation from high school. Bromfield, of course, is internationally known for his novels and plays; Richard Maxwell, New York City, is a radio star with his own programs and his own volumes of poetry; Dr. Marion Douglas, Cleveland, is a noted brain specialist and surgeon; while Zent Garber, New York City, has done interesting things with the Rockefeller Foundation expeditions. Others are professional and business men and women, and of course a number of the girls were content to be listed as "housewives."

The old members of the class from other towns and cities who are here today and will join the Mansfield members are Dr. Dean, Francis Williams, Miami, Kan.; Harold Byerly, Delaware; Dr. Louis Hurxthal, Newton Center, Mass.; Lloyd Burneson, Oberlin; Dr. Harry Denzer, Canton; Robert Hale, Elmhurst, Ill.; Atlee Lewis, Shelby; Carl Thieme, Chicago; Donald Chesroun, Morgantown, W. Va.; Leo Fox, Akron, Ned Willis, New York City; Martin Bushnell, Bucyrus.

Charles Reynolds, New York City; Faye Griebling, Johnstown, Pa.; Burndette McCreay (Mrs. Ray Foster), Bowling Green; Hazel Reese, Washington, D. C.; Zelda Greenlee (Mrs. E. L. Connell) Cleveland; Martha Chambers, Columbus; Marian Clark (Mrs. Luther Clark) Cleveland; LaDonna Harter, (Mrs. Arnold Kallmerten, Huntington, W. Va.; Viola Schnitzer, Cincinnati; Doris Berkshire (Mrs. Frank Bradley), Bellefontaine; Miriam Brinkerhoff, Chicago; Mabel Zeigler, (Mrs. G. G. Evans) Cleveland; Wilhelmina Heyer, Cleveland; Mathilda Rust (Mrs. W. G. Gribben) Shelby; Miriam Grabler, El Paso, Tex.; Helen Bloor (Mrs. Ralph Wenner), Toledo; and Geneva Hoffman (Mrs. L. G. McDaniel), Ashland.

About 130 are expected at the reunion.

Committees who were in charge of arrangements were: Reception committee—Mrs. Sherman Glessner, chairman; Mrs. Verne Henry, William Marquis, Mrs. Stuart Cramer, Richard Fensch, Nile Charles and Percy Pecht.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, Sept. 3.

Sunday's horoscope is a fairly fortunate one, with signs of preferment from those in high places. However, there also are indications of much ruthless action, with indulgence in quarrels, high-handed methods and other wayward excesses. Hard work and steady application should culminate in happy rewards.

Those whose birthday it is may be favored by a token of reward and esteem from important personages, in recognition of industry and fidelity. Nevertheless, there are signs of over-indulgences and head-strong activities. Guard against such impetuosity and the returns may be rich.

For Monday, Sept. 4.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a most stirring and eventful day, with marked favors or promotion from employers or superiors. Emphasis is on the social, domestic or affectional life, where there may be happy climax in courtship or marriage. Testimonies of duplicity are shown.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a very lively year, with promotion probable. There also may be courtship or marriage for the youthful or eligible. But be alert to betrayal or deception.

A child born on this day may be capable, ambitious and favored by its superiors. It should have an amiable and lovable nature, and may be well gifted for an artistic or literary life, with many charms and graces.

For Tuesday, Sept. 5.

Excellent planetary assistance may be depended upon for launching new enterprises, with aggressive and high-pressure initiative, on this day. It is probable that ready assistance and eager co-operation for putting over "big deals" will be found in large corporations, trusts or political, deplomatic or fraternal organizations Ingenious plans developed by practical methods are sure to be recognized, although there is a likelihood that some unwelcome changes may be demanded. In all decisions be wary in signing papers, leaving no loophole for misconstruction or treachery.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of splendid opportunity for putting over major propositions with initiative and enterprise. Such propositions are assured the ready support of large corporations, political or other bodies needful for development and promotion In all transactions, however, be alert to trickery and fraud, especially in connection with the signing of documents. Change of plans or surroundings may be demanded.

"I wish to see you at once, with no possible interruption," I said. "Is it convenient for me to come over to your apartment immediately?"

"Of course," he said quickly. "I shall be waiting for you."

"I will be there in less than a minute," I told him, and as I went through the room gave a quick forewarning of the possible morning's program.

"Don't ask me why, and don't let Philip Veritzen—or, indeed, anyone—guess that I have told you this," I said.

Philip was standing in the doorway, waiting for me. He conducted me to the most comfortable chair in his living room and put me into it with as much formality as one would effect in seating a guest of honor at a state dinner.

I straightened myself in my chair at his repetition of the phrase, "Now, how can I serve you?" and spoke quickly and with emphasis:

"Mr. Veritzen, do you think I am a person who can be trusted?"

"There is nothing you could ask of me which I would not grant," he said sonorously. "Please tell me quickly what you want of me."

"There were some after-effects of our trip last night of which I have no time to tell you, not even in answer to questions," I told him. "But what Lillian and I found out makes it imperative for you to go for a few minutes to an apartment in Greenwich Village to pick up some dropped threads of this plot against Noel and Mary. An armored car is downstairs at the door, and you will be amply guarded on your trip."

"I will go, of course," he said, "but do you mind if I take one of my own guards with me inside the car, and have Otto drive my own car just behind the armored car and wait for my exit? I think I should prefer coming back in my own car."

"There couldn't be the slightest objection to your taking a guard of your own with you in the armored car," I said, "and having Otto follow you with your own car.

"I will go as soon as I can get hold of Otto," he said. "Where is the armored car?"

"Waiting in front of the hotel," I told him.

I gave him the address and told him to ask for "Gus," then added quickly: "But I am sure you will need neither. The driver of the armored car knows exactly where to go."

"That is good," he said non-committally. "Will you be here when I return?"

Keeps the Plan Secret.

"I expect to be," I told him, smiling, but I did not tell him that I also expected to be ready to start for the farm at a moment's notice.

When I went back to the suite I found that Lillian had returned from the hideout apartment, apparently having taken a taxi. She was able only to nod in greeting for Mary spoke up quickly as I came through the door.

"I suppose there's no use in asking you what's happened?"

"On the contrary," I told her, smiling indulgently, "I can 'tell you all,' as the old melodramas used to have it. As you know, father wanted Mr. Veritzen to come down to his hide-away apartment at once, without knowing who had sent for him, and I succeeded in getting him to go. When he returns we shall know more."

In Awe of "The Chief."

"When he returns," Mary commented sapiently, "he'll be walking a chalk line, allee samee everybody who has an interview with Grandpa Spencer. I wonder—"

"Dollars to your little doughnuts mit holes," she said, "that I know why Grandpa Spencer sent for him. He wants him to consent to Noel's going to the farm today, and he knows nobody else on earth could coax or scare my respected papa-in-law into such a promise."

"You are right, Mary,," I said.

"It's a cinch if he goes down where your father is," Mary said. "Papa Veritzen sure has had the most humble respect for Grandpa Spencer ever since the day of Queen Olga's rescue.

It was little more than an hour after his departure when Philip Veritzen returned. But he came in alone, and Lillian and I looked at each other, wondering what had become of my father. Then Lillian put a direct question.

"Did you come back alone?" she asked, before he had a chance to give us any news of his journey.

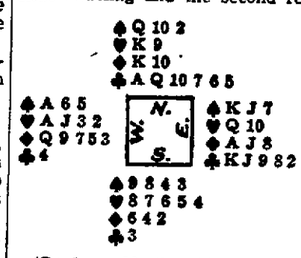
"The Authority on Authorities"

WATCH YOUR STEP

A player who has opened the bidding, with a hand barely above the borderline, should be careful about bidding again until he hears from his partner in some way. He may be in very great danger, particularly if both opponents have taken some action, such as the first doubling and the second responding to it. In this situation it may be that his partner is blank and that he himself is caught between two strong hands.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North began this with 1-Club, East doubled and West responded with 1-Diamond. A conservative player now would have passed this and the next round of bidding would have made him very glad he did so, as it would have shown the opponents able to get to 3-No Trumps and make it with one or more overtricks.

There was no conservative in the North this time, however. After West's 1-Diamond response to the double, North stuck his neck out at 2-Clubs and East doubled it. Without going into the gruesome details, suffice it to say that he was whip-sawed until he was down four tricks, for a score to the opponents of 700 points.

Tuesday's Problem.

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

How should declarer play for 7-No Trumps against a lead of the spade 9?

WEEP FOR LOVE

CHAPTER XXVI

He wondered whether she had ever cared for him—just a little, perhaps—that night when they parted at Dover when she was leaving for Paris.

"I will—ring you up—when I come back from Paris. . . ."

He gave a little start when Roy addressed him.

"Hi, you! I've spoken to you twice and you haven't answered."

Lawless smiled apologetically.

"Sorry — what were you saying?"

"They were talking a lot of nonsense, Kim," Mrs. Selby interposed. "Just arguing ,that there is no such thing as constancy." She smiled at her son with fond indulgence. "As if you know anything at all about it at your age," she chided him gently

"He thinks he knows all about it," Barbara said scathingly.

"And what is the argument?" Lawless inquired

"The argument is, "Barbara explained. "that Roy says if you really like someone, it can't make any difference if you don't see them for 20 years—and Elizabeth says that it's all silly rubbish, and that you can forget all about them in 20 weeks."

"Or in six weeks, perhaps," Lawless said quietly

"There you are!" Elizabeth cried triumphantly. "Mr. Lawless agrees with me, and he ought to know if anyone does."

There was an uncomfortable little silence until Kim asked.

"And why ought I to know?"

Elizabeth met his eyes across the table.

"I mean—you're older than any of us, and so you must have had more experience," she explained lightly. "But it's a silly argument anyway," she laughed "The sundial in the garden knows all about it when it says that Time makes Love pass away. I suppose Time makes everything pass away, doesn't it?"

She took a chocolate almond from a little dish in front of her and cracked it between her white teeth.

"You're a foolish lot of children," Mr. Selby said calmly from the head of the table, "and when you are older you will be younger."

"Oh, Daddy!" Barbara laughed in affectionate scorn. But he went on philosophically.

"And when you are older, and therefore younger, you will look back and remember the nonsense you talked and the mistakes you made and— perhaps— the opportunities you missed."

Elizabeth laughed and placed a hand dramatically above her heart.

"And the affections we blighted and the hearts we broke," she said. Then she sighed unconsciously. "I wonder if we shall?" she added thoughtfully.

"You certainly will," Mr. Selby assured her. "It happens to us all—eh, Mother?"

Roy touched Elizabeth's slender arm.

"You hear!" he whispered.

"The conversation is getting beyond my poor intelligence," Barbara said, a little sharply, "and if we're going to the Beaseleys—"

"You can't all go in my car," Roy declared firmly. "I'll take Elizabeth, and you'll take Barbara, won't you, Kim?"

* * *

"I shall be delighted."

Mrs. Selby made one last appeal to Kim.

"Don't let Roy drive too quickly, will you?"

Lawless laughed.

"I'll take him in tow behind my own car," he promised.

The vivid sunset had given place to moonlight as they drove away from the house, and Elizabeth glanced back as they turned out of the drive and shivered a little as she looked at the dark outline of High Chimneys against the pale sky.

"If I were a ghost," she said flippantly, "this would be the night I should choose to do a little jazz-walking up and down the old baronial hall."

"You'd be a darling ghost," Roy answered "But if you're thinking of our dog ghost Bingo, dogs hate the moonlight, and I expect he's skulking somewhere in a dark cellar." He glanced over his shoulder at the following car. "Lawless can get more speed out of his engine than I can," he said, in a disgruntled voice. "But if he thinks he's going to pass us, he's mistaken"

"Don't drive too quickly," Elizabeth pleaded

He glanced down at her.

"Nervous?" he asked.

She nodded.

"Yes, I think I am a little. I don't like driving after dark very much"

Roy said grimly: "Well, you once drove a good many miles at midnight with Lawless."

"That couldn't be helped," she answered, but she turned her face away as she spoke and looked out over the deserted fields.

"Peace in our Camp!" How could Kim have said such a thing when all the time he knew. . . .

She suddenly roused herself.

"Very well, drive as fast as you like," she said, in a queer, excited voice. "Let's leave the others miles and miles behind—just to annoy them"

Roy laughed.

"What a vixenish voice!" he protested

Elizabeth relaxed.

"I didn't mean it. It's much too lovely a night to go racing like lunatics through the country and there's no hurry to get there, is there?"

"Not when I'm with you," he answered, and then encouraged by her silence, "Can't you, Elizabeth? I'd be so good to you—I'd do everything in the wide world to make you happy"

There was infinite gentleness in her voice as she answered him.

"But I shouldn't make you happy"

"That wouldn't matter," he protested eagerly. "And besides, I should be happy—just to know you were there—just to know that you belonged to me. You should do just as you wanted. I'd let you be quite free."

"I shouldn't want to be quite free if I loved you," she said.

He gave a quick sigh of impatience.

"I can't understand you," he said at last. "Sometimes it seems all right. I mean—I think that I do understand you, and then you say something or do something—and it's all gone again."

"But you wouldn't like me to be always the same, would you?" she asked. "Think how flat, stale and unprofitable life would be."

Roy's only reply was to increase his speed, and presently they swept into the drive of the Beaseley's house.

A dark drive, with thick laurel bushes on each side and old trees bending above them through which even the bright moonlight hardly penetrated.

"Its not such a nice house as yours," Elizabeth said.

They drew up at the open door, and a swarm of young people came rushing out to greet them.

"Why are you so late? We thought you weren't coming? Oh, what a duck of a frock, Elizabeth! Where's Barbara? Haven't you brought her?"

"She's following with Mr. Lawloss," Elizabeth explained.

Dora Beaseley drew her into the house.

"Mr. Lawless!" She lowered her voice. "Isn't that the man your sister was engaged to?"

"Yes."

"I hear he's frightfully good-looking." Dora giggled. She was rather a foolish young woman with the kindest heart in the world.

"It seems to be a party," Roy said, following them into the hall.

"It was such fun last night," Dora told him, "that we thought we'd go one better. Do you know everyone?" She waved an introductory hand "You'll all soon know each other if you don't now. Give me your wrap, Elizabeth. Hullo, Barbara!"

bElizabeth glanced at Barbara and away again. "She looks happy," she thought, and there was a sudden coldness around her heart, for she, too, had once driven through a summer night with Kim Lawless.

It was a very noisy party.

"The parents have gone out," Dora announced. "Said they couldn't stand the racket—so we've got the place to ourselves. Of course, it's not such a romantic spot as High Chimneys, but it has its points."

* * *

They danced to radio music in the high-ceilinged drawing-room, and although Elizabeth kept as far away from Lawless as possible, she soon realized that her fears were needless; he never glanced her way.

He danced with Barbara most of the time and, when at 11 o'clock refreshments were brought in, he sat on the arm of Barbara's chair.

It was a quarter to 12 when Dora announced that it was time they play "Ghosts."

"It's a new game we've invented ourselves," she announced. "You can go anywhere you like in the house. You can go up in the attic or down in the coal cellar, but you must go alone and not in pairs, and if you see the ghost you must scream at the top of your lungs and rush back to the drawing-room, and the first home gets the prize."

There was an awed silence, till Lawless asked dryly: "And if the ghost refuses to oblige?"

"Oh, we've arranged for him," Dora answered. "Someone will see him all right, and there's no need to be scared, because he's real flesh and blood—not like your old Bingo, Roy."

She crossed the big room and switched out the lights.

"But we can't see in the dark," Elizabeth said nervously.

"It's a moonlight night," someone reminded her. "And all the blinds and curtains are drawn back, so it won't really be dark at all. Ough! It's a bit eerie, isn't it?"

"I think it's a silly game," Barbara protested faintly, but she was ignored, and someone else said:

"Now then. One, two, three—go! And you're not to talk or make a single sound unless you see it!"

* * *

Some one tugged at her frock and she almost screamed, and then there was a subdued laugh and Roy was saying in an encouraging whisper:

"Come on, darling. It's no end of a lark."

"I'm not afraid," she whispered back, and she moved very slowly away from him and towards the open door.

The silence was worst of all, she thought, as she crept up the old-fashioned staircase, her long frock making a little sound like rustling leaves at every step.

"Barbara was right, and it is a silly game," she told herself, and then smiled, for what was there to be afraid of? And when she reached the landing, she tossed her head with defiance and pushed open a door.

76 Mishaps Recorded, 10 More Than in July, Bates Reports; Traffic Arrests Drop.

Mansfield autoists figured in 76 accidents during August, 10 more than was reported the month previous, while the number of drivers arrested for speeding and careless and reckless driving dropped from 33 in July to 12 last month.

This was revealed today in the monthly report of activities of the police department submitted to Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist by Police Chief Meade K. Bates.

The report showed that 76 traffic accidents occurred inside the city limits last month as compared with 66 during July.

12 Face Traffic Charges.

Arrests for speeding dropped from 13 in July to six last month.

Six drivers also were ordered into municipal court on charges of careless and reckless driving as against 20 arrested on the same charge in July.

In all police made 143 arrests last month as compared with 128 during the previous month. As usual approximately 30 per cent, or 54 persons were arrested for intoxication. Eleven arrests were made for assault and battery which was second of the offenses most frequently violated.

During August a decline also was shown in the number of traffic tickets issued, the major portion of which are for parking violations.

There were 232 tickets issued in August as compared with 388 the month previous. Collections from the tickets also dropped, the report showed, with $242 taken in as against $419 in July.

THEATERS

"In Name Only."

CAROLE LOMBARD, Kay Frances and Cary Grant have the top roles in "In Name Only" which opens at the Ohio today for a four day run. This in itself is important to movie goers for they make up a trio that spells "box-office" in big letters. The old eternal triangle gets a new twist with the wife in the role of the unscrupulous schemer and the other woman winning all of the sympathy. Grant, who is one of the screen's best romantic comedians, has a heavier and more dramatic role in this, as the husband who knows his wife is ruthless and heartless but who can't shake her off. Charles Coburn, Helen Vinson and Katharine Alexander are in the cast.

"Four Feathers."

This spectacular, Technicolor film has its theme in Kitchener's 1898 campaign in the Sudan, when the English troops negotiated the Nile in small sail boats which had to be pulled over the rapids by natives. A highlight of action and suspense is the battle between the English troops and the desert Dervishes, with the former being saved only in the proverbial nick of time. This Alexander Korda film, which opened today at the Madison, has an appealing romance running parallel with the siege in India.

"Oklahoma Kid."

James Cagney portrays the role of this romantic bad man of the old West, wielding two-guns with the best of them. This fictionized historical drama is booked for the Ritz Sunday and Monday. Suporting the star in this drama of the Oklahoma land rush and the lawless crews that followed the westward trail, are Rosemary Lane, Humphrey Bogart, Donald Crisp, and Harvey Stephens. The poplar team of Bob Hope and Shirley Ross head the cast of entertainers in "Some Like It Hot." Music and comedy are combined with romance, and Una Merkel and Rufe Davis take a hand in the comedy.

"Only Angels Have Wings."

One of the best of the aviation pictures, this film returns to Mansfield for showing the first half of the week at the Park Whimsical Jean Arthur and Cary Grant head the cast, but Richard Barthelmess, one of the greatest of all of the old silent stars, makes a comeback in it. The locale is an out of the way air base in South America, where men daily risk their lives for love of flying and some little money and smaller glory. The second film is "The Girl From Rio" in which Movita, Mexican star, is seen with Warren Hull.

"Four Daughters."

The first picture in which the now famous Lane sisters made their combined appearances is booked for the re-opening of the Majestic Sunday. Priscilla, Rosemary and Lola Lane are augumented by Gale Page as the fourth sister. The story is a simple homey one of a family of four grown daughters and the father and mother, and a beau comes to woo each of the girls. Their romances and tragedies make up the story. Also shown on the two day program will be "Dawn Patrol," aviation thriller with Errol Flynn, Basil Rathbone, David Niven and Donald Crisp, all men who are subject to the call of the English army in the present crisis.

HOSTS TO CLINIC

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)— Ohio football officials and coaches gathered today for their annual rules clinic under the guidance of the Ohio High School Athletic association.

Braves Start Final Drive Here Tonight

Hosts to Fostoria at Fairground at 9 P. M.; Split Twin Bill at Tiffin.

THIRTEEN ball games remained on the fading schedule of the battlin' Braves today, and, with fair weather prevailing, the tribal warriors will have only nine left to play after the holiday week-end.

Whatever hopes the Braves hold for a berth in the Shaughnessy playoff will probably be determined within the next few days.

The Braves are only five and a half games behind Tiffin and Findlay, tied for the lead, and one tilt nearer Fostoria and Fremont, deadlocked for the third position. The fifth-place Lima club hold a one game advantage over the cellar Braves.

"Knot Hole" Night.

Dewey Stover's Braves start their final drive tonight when they engage the Fostoria Red Birds in the final 'Knot Hole Gang' night of the season at the Fairground. The "Merchandise Night" game is billed for 9 p. m., with Howard Patterson, Ontario boy, who won his first start as a Brave against Findlay last Sunday, the probable pitching choice.

Maloney

The "most popular Mansfield player," selected in a vote staged during the season, will be announced at the start of tonight's game. He will be presented with a wrist watch.

Mansfield split a double-header with the Mudhens in Tiffin last night, losing the first of two seven-inning games, 5 to 3, and winning the afterpiece, 3 to 1.

Although Lefty Mossor twirled as well as Bill McHugh, the Braves were unable to annext the opener. A couple of errors added to Mossor's grief. Both yielded six hits, with the Mudhens bunching three with an error in the second for two runs and two with another bobble in the fifth for the final pair.

Howard Beals' double gave the Braves their first two tallies in the fifth, and Pinch Hitter Connie Zerman's two-bagger provided the other run in the seventh.

A nice piece of relief pitching by Leon Maloney featured the Braves' 3 to 1 triumph in the final tilt.

Del Leslie started on the mound for the Braves, but he was jerked in the third when the first two men to face him hit safely. Maloney came into the picture at this juncture and set the Hens down with one run.

Allows Two Hits.

Maloney, who allowed only two hits in the five innings he toiled, gave up the only run in the fifth when a walk and a double by Kudrycki counted.

The Hens were permitted only four hits in all, while the Braves found Al Curry for six.

Crowd of 2,000 Anticipated For Yarman Benefit Sunday

JUDGING from the pre-season ticket sale, a crowd of 2,000 or more will pack into the Fairground Sunday for the three-star benefit show to be staged for "Darby" Yarman, well-known Mansfield athletic figure, who recently suffered a broken ankle in an old-timers' baseball game in Lucas.

Two softball games featuring the city's classiest teams against out-of-town opponents and a baseball tussle is on the benefit bill scheduled to get under way at 12:30 p. m.

In the first event on the program, Dewey Durant's American Legion junior team, which won the district championship, will meet the old Yuncker Sports of some 10 years ago. The injured Yarman was a member of the Sports team, and his old place in the lineup will be taken by a son, Gene.

The Mansfield Merchants girls' softball team, also a district champion, will tangle with the North Ridgeville lassies, runners-up in the state tournament, in the middle attraction.

"DARBY" YARMAN

Climaxing the all star bill will be a softball tussle between the DeLuxe Cabs of Mansfield, who finished second in the recent Ohio tournament, and J. & H. Grills of Massillon, also a participant in the state elimination.

The DeLuxe and Massilon teams have tangled twice on the softball field this season with the honors even. This deciding game should provide Mansfield fans with one of the most spectacular tilts of the local season.

An admission of only 25 cents will be charged, Bob Young, chairman of the committee, announced today.

Musille Club Cinches Title In Final Game

Cigars Beat Reese Opticals, 2-1, to Annex Commercial League Crown.

The Y. M. C. A. Commercial softball league championship today is in the possession of the Musille Cigar representatives.

Musilles annexed the title by trimming the defending championship Reese Opticals, 2 to 1, in the rubber setto of a three-game playoff at Liberty park yesterday before a gathering estimated at 500.

Manager Pete Schadek sent Dale McKinley against the Opticals and the youthful hurling ace responded with a six-hit performance to turn back the rivals.

Musilles tallied both their runs in the fourth inning to take the lead. The Reese team retaliated in the fifth with a single marker and the scoring was all over.

While McKinley was limiting the losers to six bingles, Bob Schaffer Opticals' moundsman, was letting the new champions down with five base knocks. The Cigars, however, came through with some timely hitting to gain the decision.

The Opticals had a chance to at least tie the score in the last of the sixth when they placed a man on third with one away. McKinley fanned Tom Farrell and Harry Konves made a spectacular one-handed catch of Wilkins long fly to end the activities.

Pastor, who secured a triple and single to pace the Opticals' attack, was the only player to get an extra-base hit.

Tygers Please Snyder In First Scrimmage of New Grid Season

By CHARLES MARTIN

COACH PAUL SNYDER, Mansfield Senior high's new football mentor, got a glimpse of how his 1939 squad performs in scrimmage at Stadium field yesterday, and he wasn't disappointed at what he saw.

Faced with the task of building a grid machine with only five regulars to form the nucleus, Snyder and his assistant, Vern Hoffman, Senior high basketball coach, hope to have the 50-odd candidates in tip-top shape for the season's opener against Akron West Sept. 16.

With his backfield rounding out in nice shape, Coach Snyder is centering his attention on the forward wall, which at present shows several weak spots.

There are a number of inexperienced linement fighting to grab a post on the front line and Snyder used practically every available man in the scrimmage yesterday to begin his weeding process.

Snyder

Among those who impressed the new coach were Russ Beer and Mike Horvath, tackles Bob Winbigler and Gene Miller, ends. Dick White and Harold Weaver, guards and Paul Sauders and Dick White centers.

Beer, a 6-foot two inch lineman, Winbigler and Miller were particularly outstanding. The lanky tackle looked promising on defensive plays, while Winbigler and Miller, the latter a newcomer from Oregon, handled their flank posts like veterans. Miller showed up well as a pass receiver.

Leading the backfield candidates is Dave Templeton, a 180-pounder, that Snyder may use at fullback. Templeton, who hails from Baltimore, Md., can pass, punt and is an excellent line plunger.

Other backfield men who Snyder liked in their first workout are Harold Hershey, Jim "Red" LeMunyon and Marshall Smith, all lettermen, and William Doolittle, up from Simpson junior high.

Although Marshall Smith is the leading candidate for the blocking job in the backfield, Snyder thinks a couple of newcomers, Earl Garnes and Fred Crawford, may press him for the berth.

In the punting department, in addition to Templeton, are Hershey and LeMunyon, while Doolittle showed Snyder that he will be after the passing assignment. The sophomore tossed several nifty heaves yesterday.

When the 1939 team steps out in its first game against Akron West the high school fans will hardly recognize it. The school has purchased new uniforms.

The jerseys will be blue with red numerals set in white with black and red pants.

MAKES FINDING

Examiner Hits $817 Loss in Funds for Galion City.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—A state examiner's report returned total findings for recovery of $817.92 on an examination of the affairs of the city of Galion. The examination covered the period Jan. 20, 1938, to May 4, 1939.

The largest single finding was for $435.72 against George E. Stinson, an accountant in the city water department, for funds which were lost through the closing of the Citizen's Bank. The report held Stinson must account for $148.87, the loss suffered in the water works fund, and $286.85, the loss suffered in the electric light fund.

The report said that Stinson had a separate account in the bank, of which $790 was in the electric light department fund. It said that these monies were not in the treasurer's account, but were in reality in Stinson's custody, and for that reason any loss suffered in those funds must be accounted for by him.

Warsaw Announces Germany Resumes Bombardment in All Parts of Nation.

Orotrow, Nowy Dwor, Augustow, Radomosko, Grodno and Bidlaposka.

In addition, bombings were reported unofficially from Poznan, important industrial city in the northwest with 240,000 inhabitants; Lwow, where it was said many were killed and wounded in three raids; Warka, 40 miles south of Warsaw; Lvov, where more than 60 were reported killed.

Advices from the frontier said the heaviest German attack was coming from Silesia in the southwest; a lighter one from the southeast corner of East Prussia, and a third and weaker one was aimed at the Polish corridor.

Gdynia, Polish Baltic port, was bombed all day yesterday.

An official communique protested that in spite of Adolf Hitler's announcement to the Reichstag that German fliers would spare civilians, no mercy was being shown and that in one instance the Germans had bombed an exacuation train 60 miles west of Warsaw, killing and wounding many women and children.

Poles have not bombed the German side of the frontier and have made only a defensive fight, officials said.

In one raid on Warsaw, 60 German planes were over the city for an hour. The tactics appeared to have been designed more to terrorize than damage the city.

Anti-aircraft fire was heavy during the bombings here, but the raiders, mostly Heinkels, threaded their way through the blasts of shrapnel without apparent damage.

Poland was officially in a state of war, proclaimed by President Ignacy Moscicki, and its whole fighting force was arrayed for battle. Moscicki, however, had not formally declared war on Germany.

A Farmer's Diary

Soy Bean Hay.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THERE is scarcely a farmer in our neighborhood who does not have a field of growing beans. The fields of growing, ripening corn perfume the countryside, but the odor of ripening of soybean hay is a friendly rival. "How many acres of this hay will you have?" I asked a farmer by the roadside. He stopped his work of piling beans from the windrow into small close heaps and leaning upon his fork, spat heavily in the direction of the wind.

"There's twenty acres in this field, and I figure it'll make 30 tons. They're nigh the same all through. See how thick they stand. No disease bothers 'em—'cept'n grasshoppers round the edges. Often on a morning I've stood by the fence and admired 'em—the dew makes 'em look so fresh and them little lavender blooms that hugs the stem makes a pretty sight. Up there in the hollow they're almost to my shoulders, and the ground seems moist and soft where they grow.

"What will you plant when the hay if off," I asked.

"Wheat, I reckon. You don't have to plow the soil for that,—just disk it well—and you don't need expensive fertilizer. Something about these beans makes following crops grow better. It beats timothy raisin' a mile."

I pulled out a thrifty stalk from a moist spot. In the crotches of the roots, and even at the very end of one long lateral, were gray nodules as large as grains of corn. I pulled one off and squeezed it until the reddish contents emptied out.

"What's that?" the farmer asked. "I've often seen 'em."

"These are nodules," I said, "in which are stored living organisms that bring nitrogen from the air into the soil. Nitrogen, as you know, is the first of three important elements in commercial fertilizer. All clovers, the locust tree, and even beggar weeds belong the same family. You make your crop of hay and the soil is just as good as before. It's like having your cake and eating it too."

"And that's why you inoculate," he suggested. "To make them noodles grow."

"That's it," said I. "And that's why there are nearly as many acres planted to beans now as to corn. Ten years ago it was all different."

"They're ready for harvest at a time when the other work is pretty well done," added the farmer. "The weather is usually hot and dry and they can be left for a long time in piles. Jones, down here, had his out three weeks, and they looked good when he hauled 'em. Cattle like 'em too, and they'll boost the milk flow 'most like alfalfa."

Auto Overturns, Driver Only Slightly Hurt

—News-Journal Photo.

John Henry Mowers, 21, of Lucas, was only slightly hurt when his car, shown above, overturned at 7:30 p. m. yesterday on route 39, one mile south of route 30, after the left front tire had blown out causing him to sideswipe a car driven by Earl W. Mitchell, 21, of R. D. 4, Mansfield. Mowers was taken to Mansfield General hospital where he received treatment for contusions of the back, chest and left arm. Mowers told highway patrolmen the blowout swerved his car to the right side of the road, sideswiping Mitchell's auto. Mitchell and three persons riding with him were not injured.

AUDIENCE AT CRESTLINE SEES SHOWING OF BASEBALL MOVIES

CRESTLINE—About fifty were present for the public showing of the moving picture, "The First 100 Years in Baseball" Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A.

The picture was sponsored by the Young Men's club and was to have been shown following a banquet for the City softball league, but the banquet was called off and the trophy which was to have been presented to the league champions, the Young Men's club team, will be presented at a regular meeting of that group in the near future.

C. C. Klahn, advisor for the club and also for the softball league, spoke briefly of the success of the league this season and gave credit for the way it was handled to Paul Fisher, chairman, Harvey Wipple, vice chairman, and J. D. Guinup, secretary and treasurer of the group.

He stated that the league had been more successful than in other years and more interest was shown. He mentioned the possibility of organizing a basketball league on the same lines but no action was taken.

NEXT WE SEE PAM AND HER ESCORT JUST ARRIVED AT THEIR DESTINATION
NO — I'VE NEVER BEEN HERE BEFORE — IT'S A BEAUTIFUL PLACE!
THEY PUT ON A HOT FLOOR SHOW HERE, TOO!
THEN — SUDDENLY, SOMETHING TERRIBLE HAPPENED! GRIGGS, POMPOUSLY GIVING AN ELABORATE ORDER, FAILED TO NOTE PAM'S LOOK OF CONSTERNATION AS SHE CHANCED TO GLANCE ACROSS THE ROOM!
GOT THAT?
YES, SIR! — YES, SIR! — I UNDERSTAND, SIR!
WHAT DID PAM SEE?

SELLING STEMS LEADERS AFTER SHARP ADVANCE

Favorites Up 1 to 5 Points Before Profit-Taking Hits Record Session.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Late profit taking stemmed another "war baby" boom in the stock market today after favorites had shot up 1 to more than 5 points.

Traders began to cash in when dispatches told of the British delaying action against Hitler pending the latter's answer to the ultimatum on the suspension of hostilities against Poland, and the statement of Premier Daladier to the French chamber that made to prevent a continuation of the German-Polish conflict France would support them.

As thoughts revived of a possible settlement of the controversy without a general European outbreak, stock prices receded substantially from the tops. Some leaders lost half or more of their initial advances and, at the close, the majority of utilities and mail orders were under water.

The ticker tape ran as much as 3 minutes late during the first 40 minutes of the proceedings as such issues as U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic Steel changed hands in blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares.

Transfers for the two hours were near the 2,000,000-share mark, largest turnover for a Saturday session since March, 1937.

Steels, coppers, aircrafts, sugars, chemicals and oils were the principal forward sprinters among shares.

Retaining sizable portions of their peak gains were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Anaconda, American Smelting, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, Fajardo Sugar, South Porto Rico sugar, Du Pont, Dow Chemical, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Continental Oil, Texas Corp., and International Harvester.

BRITONS GROPE IN DARKNESS

'Blackout' Orders Carried Out in London; Paris Dark With Silent Populace.

ace, where King George and Queen Elizabeth slept.

A United Press correspondent who walked one block to eat nearly collided with four people on the way, and nearly passed the "Snack Bar," his destination.

On occasion the pedestrians came on a gang of workmen or volunteers piling up sand bags in front of buildings.

Trains had no head lights. They carried only small tail lights. Passenger coaches were unlighted. Locomotive fire boxes were screen. One United Press man who rode 9½ miles to his home saw one light on the way—in an uncurtained bedroom window.

The darkness gave young people a better chance to get on with their love-making. In buses and in the street, couples frankly kissed. Hundreds of them gathered outside one army barracks, where wives and sweethearts bade goodbye to their men, going, they thought, to war.

People thought that it had come. There was no excitement, but there was a new spirit of comradeship. People who usually remain silent and reserved talked to each other in buses, street cars, subways and trains.

FRENCH TROOPS MARCH

PARIS — (U.P.) — Hundreds of thousands of army recruits streamed through the city today and as many civilians fled to the countryside as the chamber of deputies prepared to meet to decide whether France goes to war.

Virtually all normal pursuits were halted awaiting the hour when Premier Edouard Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet inform the chamber of France's futile efforts to avert the German attack on Poland and declare that France is pledged to go to Poland's aid.

The civilian exodus clogged the roads and railways. The government had insisted that everyone without urgent business leave, and they left by special trains running every few minutes all night, by automobiles in such numbers that they interferred with military traffic, and afoot to the outlying districts, some taking household goods in wagons and carts.

The mobilized men were cheerful, and in spite of the tears of mothers, they managed to revive a little of the normal carefree Paris life as they awaited trains. They paraded in the boulevards, singing, haversacks on their backs and steel helmets slung over their shoulders. They crowded the restaurants as long as they were open.

Otherwise, the city was in deep gloom. Most movies were closed. Projectionists had been among the first called to the colors as specialists—they are usually engineers.

At sundown yesterday a balloon barrage went up around Paris. The balloons, attached to a network of cables, serve as airplane traps. The city was "blacked out" and dinners were eaten in the dark on cafe terraces. Dance halls were open but dimly lighted and the windows were screened.

PLANES, TROOPS NEAR 'GOALS,' NAZIS DECLARE

Believe Seizure of Corridor, Danzig by Force Will Cause Allies to Back Up.

still in transmission.

Hitler conferred with numerous key men during the day, including Deputy Nazi Leader Rudolph Hess and Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, as military leaders awaited the arrival of a Soviet military mission, expected in Berlin by plane late this afternoon.

The mission was delayed yesterday in order to permit inclusion of Soviet Russia's new ambassador to Berlin, just appointed. The party consists of a leading general and four other high officers.

Accorded an official escort, Polish Ambassador Josef Lipski left Berlin for Warsaw during the morning. The German embassy in Warsaw was placed in the hands of the Dutch.

The German army resumed its advance on all fronts in Poland today, according to an authoritative statement by military quarters in Berlin.

"The troops quickly captured the Jablunka pass connecting Slovakia and Poland," a statement asserted.

"Numerous enemy airplanes were destroyed by aerial attacks on scores of Polish aerodromes."

(Editor's Note: This was the first formal indication since late last night that German military operations in Poland have continued into their second day, despite last night's Anglo-French demand for immediate suspension. No other news of continued operations had previously been permitted to seep out from any official source.)

The progres has been made, these quarters said, "despite heavy resistance and blown up roads."

"Up to this morning," the statement said, "the forces reached more than their objectives."

German troops captured the Polish city of Teschen and advanced as far as Pless-Nikolai, the statement said. The forces occupied Wieroszow, east of Kempen, as well as Klobuck and Schildberg.

In the Polish corridor, German troops reached the most important railway line, known as the "coal line" between Bromberg and Gdynia near Culm. It is over this line that coal is transported northward to Gdynia.

ANSWERS ROOSEVELT

BERLIN—(U.P.)—Fuehrer Adolf Hitler has agreed unconditionally to President Roosevelt's proposal that the nations refrain from bombing undefended cities or anything but military objectives, it was announced today.

"The opinion expressed in President Roosevelt's message that it is the law of humanity to refrain under all conditions of military activity from bombing non-military objectives is fully in accordance with my own viewpoint and in accordance with what I have always represented.

"Therefore I agree unconditionally to the proposal that governments participating in current hostilities give a public declaration to this effect.

"For my part, I already announced publicly in my Reichstag speech on Friday that the German air force has received orders to restrict their action to military objectives.

"It is self-evident that the prerequisite for continuance of this order that the same rule be imposed on the air force of our opponent.

(Signed) "Adolf Hitler."

DARRELL McCLURE
'COURSE, THAT TRUCK AIN'T AS NICE AS LIVIN' IN A REG'LAR HOUSE — BUT MRS SPRUCE AIN'T GOT MUCH MONEY — AN' IF IT DON'T RAIN IT WILL BE ALMOST AS GOOD AS A HOUSE TO LIVE IN BLACKSMITH
YOU'RE A GREAT KID, ANNIE — THERE'S AN OLD WAGON COVER IN THE SHOP — IT WILL AT LEAST KEEP THE RAIN OUT — I'LL HELP YOU FIX IT UP A LITTLE OH, GEE!
SOME OF THE SPRINGS ARE STILL GOOD — IT ISN'T MUCH OF A BED —
HONEST — I THINK IT'S FINE — AN' JUST THE RIGHT SIZE — MRS. SPRUCE IS LUCKY TO BE KINDA LITTLE — IF SHE WAS A BIG, TALL FAT WOMAN THAT BED WOULD BE TOO LITTLE
DARRELL McCLURE
WON'T MRS. SPRUCE BE SPRISED WHEN SHE SEE'S THIS TRUCK HOUSE? 'COURSE, IT AIN'T AS NICE AS THE HOUSE WHERE SHE USED TO LIVE — BUT THIS HOUSE AIN'T GOT NO MORTGAGE ON IT!

PLEASE — MRS SPRUCE — DON'T BE FOOLISH — YOU MUST HAVE A ROOF OVER YOUR HEAD — WITH ALL THE CHILDREN YOU MIGHT BE A LITTLE BIT CROWDED, BUT —
THANK YOU, MRS JOHNSON — YOU ARE VERY KIND —
YET I CANNOT ACCEPT YOUR KIND OFFER — I AM EXPECTING A LETTER FROM MY SISTER, ASKING ME TO COME AND LIVE WITH HER
YES, I KNOW — BUT IF THE LETTER DOES NOT COME —?
I WAS AT THE POST OFFICE THIS MORNING — THE POSTMASTER SEZ, ARIZONA IS A LONG WAYS OFF AN' LOTSA TIMES LETTERS ARE DELAYED A LITTLE BIT —

I CANNOT UNDERSTAND HOW A CHILD YOUR AGE COULD REALIZE AN OLD, WRECKED TRUCK COULD BE CONVERTED INTO A HOME — IT WAS AN INSPIRATION!
NO, MA'AM — IT WAS JUST LUCK — THERE'S ONLY A FEW HOUSES IN THIS TOWN AN' NO VACANT ONES — AN' I GUESS WHEN I SAW THIS TRUCK IT MADE ME THINK 'BOUT GYPSIES LIVIN' IN WAGONS ALL THE TIME —
BESIDES — WE DON'T HAVE TO PAY NO RENT AN' IT'S RIGHT NEAR THE POST OFFICE — SO IF THAT LETTER COMES FROM YOUR SISTER, ASKIN' YOU TO LIVE WITH HER — YOU KIN GET IT RIGHT AWAY —
I'M AFRAID THAT LETTER WILL NEVER COME — I'VE LOST HOPE

THE POSTMASTER SEZ EDGAR ALLAN POE WAS A SWELL WRITER WHO DIED A LONG TIME AGO — BUT THE STORIES HE WROTE WON'T EVER DIE — 'CAUSE WHEN FOLKS READ 'EM THEY SAY — "MY GOODNESS, AIN'T THEY GRAND?"
THE POSTMASTER SEZ MR. POE WROTE LOTSA BOOKS AN' THEY'RE ALL GOOD 'CAUSE HE KNEW HOW TO WRITE JUST LIKE A MOCKING-BIRD KNOWS HOW TO SING — IF I WAS RICH I'D BUY ALL OF MR. POE'S BOOKS AN' — GEE — I GOT AN IDEA!!
DARRELL McCLURE
WELL, NOW, I DON'T KNOW WHAT THIS BOOK IS WORTH — VERY LIKELY NOTHING — BUT IT'S KIND OF OLD AND I'VE HEARD SOME FOLKS PAY FANCY PRICES FOR OLD BOOKS — BETTER ASK DOCTOR GOOD — HE'S BEEN TO COLLEGE
